Lee County Board okays zoning petition

By ROBERT H. NELLIS

The Lee County Board approved rezoning land near Harmon for construction of a liquid fertilizer blending plant after it was determined the plant does not come under the jurisdiction of the Environmental Protection Agency; and Sheriff Ray Nehring, answering questions which were asked at last month's meeting, met a barrage of other queries.

The Zoning Board of Appeals recommended rezoning property near the Harmon Community Building for the fertilizer plant if the petitioner, Floyd Albrecht, obtained a letter from the EPA showing approval for the operation of the facility.

No such letter was presented to the board, but Albrecht had a letter read from the Liquid Glow fertilizer company indicating the plant does not come under the jurisdiction of the EPA because it does not dump water in a stream nor has any emission into the air.

This did not satisfy David Considine, a resident of Harmon and a board member from District 1, who said the plant will be within 100 feet from the community building and that at the zoning board hearing, Albrecht had agreed to get an EPA approval letter.

John Caluwaert, attorney for Albrecht, contended the zoning board did not have the legal right to place stipulations on its recommendation. He said the petitioner is asking for a change in the zoning ordinances and this is the only question the zoning board should have ruled on.

Considine reported spillage of fertilizer in the village has already caused the ruin of a lawn and said he wants safeguards taken to insure the plant operation will not endanger the surrounding area.

It was resolved after a 20-minute telephone call to the Springfield office of the EPA. Considine, Albrecht, Caluwaert and State's Atty. Patrick Ward, reported back the EPA said its approval is not necessary prior to starting operations of such a plant and that the EPA will not send a letter stating the operation is out of its jurisdiction by a telephone request. Albrecht can get such a statement by sending a written request.

Considine had called for a roll call vote, but withdrew this after the telephone call.

It passed on a voice vote, with Considine voting "no."

During the questioning of Albrecht, James P. Green, District 4, asked members, "Why are we harassing this man with a government agency?"

Albrecht explained the plant perimeter will be diked and aprons surrounding the building will be cemented and sloped so any spillage will run into a sump pump, where it will be pumped into storage tanks for future use.

In the afternoon session of the August meeting of the board Charles Dunphy, District 1, asked why the sheriff patrols state highways, why they do not let the State Police patrol these roads.

Sheriff Ray Nehring was not present when the query was voiced, but today undertook to reply.

He accused Dunphy of being "ignorant of the law," and of waiting until he left the room last month before asking his question.

Nehring recited chapter and verse of state statutes which direct the sheriff to patrol all roads in the county.

He reported his department made 107 traffic arrests last month and investigated 35 accidents.

The sheriff said his men patrol the state highways in the county because on these is where most of the accidents occur.

He said speeding is a problem on highways and his men set up radar to cope with this.

Nehring asserted the state police are undermanned and often have only one or two cars operating in the county.

"I feel the people who live along and travel on state highways deserve as much protection as those who live along county roads," declared Nehring.

"My office brings in more money in one month than the department used to in one year," asserted Nehring and said, "you can check the record."

Dunphy told Nehring he asked the question because he had observed sheriff deputies checking traffic with radar on Ill. 26, south of Dixon and then came to a board meeting to hear the county should pay for establishing a sub-station in Paw Paw because people there were not getting proper protection.

"Maybe some of those men should have been over in the Paw Paw area," observed Dunphy.

Lowell Beggs, District 1, asked the sheriff about a deputy he had hired who did not pass the test given by the Merit Commission.

Nehring replied written and oral tests are both given and backgrounds of applications are checked and finally the commission gives him a list of three names and he is free to choose anyone of the three.

Grace Balser, District 4, wanted to know the "story behind" the resignation of Jean Kellen as a deputy sheriff.

The sheriff said Kellen, who is now employed by the Dixon Police Department, was let go for "personal reasons."

"She was asked to resign," revealed Nehring and "later she asked to be allowed to resign and we let her."

Herbert Henning, District 3, asked if the present deputy matron was recommended by the commission and Nehring said, "no," explaining janitors, jailers and matrons do not come under the commission, at least for one year, and then only if the commission decides to take jurisdiction. "The sheriff has full authority in hiring or firing them," said Nehring.

Green asked the sheriff how many men he needed to adequately staff his department and Nehring said four more.

He reported his office has made application for two of the public service jobs to be filled in the county which will be paid by the federal government.

Finally, in defense of the activities, Nehring said, "We do the things we do, contract with villages confiscate cars involved in drug arrests and arrest traffic offenders to help defray expenses, without harassing anybody."

Nehring said he thought his budget expenses should be permitted to increase in some relation to the amount of money the department brings into the county treasury.

The board concurred with a rezoning recommendation to permit a farm machinery sales and service operation to be established near Amboy by Kenneth L. Scudder.

—Voted to allow Howard Leffelman to establish a meat processing operation near Sublette.

Steve Zwicker, Amboy, soil scientist, USDA, told the board soil surveys aid planning officials and zoning board is making right decision about the proper use of land.

The county has entered into contract with the Soil Conservation Service of the USDA to complete a soil survey of the county at a cost of $400,000 with the county paying half the cost which is to be finished in 1982.

The commitment asked from the county this year is $16,500 and has been referred to the Finance Committee which has taken no action on the request.

Zwicker explained soil surveys show areas where non-agriculture expansion can be made making the least impact on agriculture.

The board received and sent to the Finance Committee the budget of the Tuberculosis Association which totals $60,600.

William Kant, District 1, chairman County Services Committee, revealed the Northwest Illinois Association of Public Officials, known as the Northwest Council, has approved a grant petition for $9,500 for purchase of the People's Park at First St. and Peoria Ave., requested by the City of Dixon.

He also offered recommended raises the rates for picking up and feeding animals and for obtaining building permits and fees for filing rezoning petitions which were adopted.

Ernest Norden, District 1, chairman, Finance Committee, said the county share of half a year of judges salaries is $9,157.50. Irvin Koch, District 2, board chairman, said legislators have told him Gov. Daniel Walker has promised to sign legislation which will require the state to pay all of the judges' salaries.

New radio system gets nod from Ogle Board

By LENNY INGRASSIA

OREGON—Ogle County Board members today paved the way for the purchase of a modernized communications system for the sheriff's department, estimated to cost $40,000.

Sheriff Jerry Brooks requested the new equipment, including installation of a 350-foot tower to be located in the west section of Oregon. Brooks reasoned the present system, which transmits on a low band frequency, is cumbersome, "with many other people transmitting on the same frequency." The sheriff said if the low band license is renewed for the coming year, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) will require a reduction in power "and we already have a problem hearing cars in isolated areas of the county."

Sheriff's Capt. Mel Messer, who researched the purchase, said Radio Ranch, Polo, has offered to construct and maintain the tower for a 20-year period, at a total cost to the county of $400.

Messer said the only stipulation they request is the right to lease lower tower space for commercial communications. "This (new system) would eliminate our 'skip' problem," Messer said.

The new system would incorporate 3 high band frequencies for the sheriff's department. The present low band equipment would be maintained for other police and emergency agencies within the county, Brooks said.

The proposal includes installation of new transmitters in each squad car and portable transmitters for each deputy. Brooks said neighboring counties of Lee, Winnebago and Stephenson, are operating with high band systems.

Board members approved a motion to advertise for bids on the new equipment. A request for use of land for the tower is expected to go before the Oregon City Council.

At the request of Brooks, the board approved a $3 daily rate per man for housing Winnebago County prisoners. The transfer of prisoners was prompted by overcrowded conditions at Winnebago County jail. Eleven prisoners are now being incarcerated in the Ogle County jail, Brooks said. "They may be here a while and there may be more."

A road and bridge tax levy of $889,563 was approved unanimously. The new levy reflects an increase of $93,548 over the 1974 figure. The new levy will be used to figure 1975 real estate taxes at an increased rate.

A request from Byron attorney James Canfield, who complained of an alleged ordinance violation, was sent to liquor control committee.

Canfield and two property owners, who live near the Rockford Dragway in Byron, asked by what authority the motor racing was allowed on Labor Day Monday. The attorney cited a 1966 ordinance passed by the county board which permits dragway operations on Friday, Saturday and Sunday only. "The loud noise and irritation is almost unbearable—we think we are entitled to have the ordinance followed," Canfield said.

Board Chairman Charles Finch, Mt. Morris, said dragway operator Ron Leake advised him prior to the Labor Day event they had authority to race on holidays.

County Highway Supervisor R. E. Erickson reported that 20 township bridges have been declared unsafe to use. Erickson said the results were part of a county-prepared study of 275 bridges, all of which are longer than 20 feet.

He vowed an attempt to make necessary repairs to upgrade the bridge ratings. "Some of them (bridges) are rusting out and it appears they are being held up by the sky."

Leon Vaupel, Polo, today announced his candidacy for State Representative in the 35th District. He told the board he would seek the Republican nomination. The Asbury College graduate is employed as an advertising representative for the Carroll County Review. Vaupel was the previous operator of a Davis Junction grain elevator and farm retail store. The 35th District takes in the counties of JoDaviess, Stephenson, Ogle, Carroll and Winnebago, except Rockford Township.

The board approved a four-year in-training sanitation program for Dr. David Stevens, county veterinarian. The program, conducted by the Winnebago County Health Department, provides environmental health services. Dr. Stevens receives an annual salary of $16,000.

Ford vetos oil bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Ford today vetoed a bill extending oil price controls and allocations for six months.

The President's long-expected action left it up to Congress either to attempt to override the veto or to pass alternative legislation.

Without something to replace the vetoed extension, all U.S. oil prices remain free to rise to whatever levels the market will bear. The controls expired Aug. 31.

Roughly two-thirds of U.S. crude oil production was under a price ceiling of $5.25.

House overrides education veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted overwhelmingly today to override President Ford's veto of an education money bill in showdown over federal spending.

The vote was 379-41, far above the two-thirds needed. When the lopsided vote was announced, House members broke into applause.

SVC enrollment boost wipes out deficit

By BILL SHAW

A significant enrollment increase, much larger than expected, has enhanced the possibility of a balanced Sauk Valley College budget for the 1975-76 school year.

The college board held a public hearing on the budget Monday night. That budget was tentatively approved July 28 to include a $117,337 deficit. College President George Cole told the board that the projected red ink has been erased.

Cole outlined the major changes which have occurred since the deficit budget was approved. He reported that 3,044 students were presently enrolled, an increase of 44 per cent over 2,105 students a year ago. Those students account for 27,369 credit hours, an increase of 40 per cent. Cole had previously expected a 12 per cent increase. "We estimate 1,000 additional students and credit hours in the community services program this year," Dr. Cole added.

The number of credit hours is the basis for calculation of revenue received by the institution. With the increase of credit hours, the revenue received from students and the state will increase. Robert Edison, business manager of the college, presented a memorandum before the board, which explained that budgeted income would be $127,000 higher for the year than expected when the deficit budget was derived.

"The state told us that they would give us $19.20 per credit hour, we now believe we will only get $18," Dr. Cole said. "This means we will get less money per student." The $18 figure was used in budget computations.

Cole also informed the board that more instructional supplies and audiovisual equipment would be needed to accommodate the increased enrollment. Cole labeled this a relatively small expense. "We spend a lot on personnel," he said. "We should give them the proper tools to teach with." Dr. Cole also reported that 500 more chairs were being "consumed" this year.

William Judd, board member, asked Cole, "why don't the (budgeted) expense figures go up with enrollment?"

Dr. Cole answered that the major expense is the staff. "We will be making more efficient use of personnel," Cole added that some teachers would be overloaded, especially in business area. To ease the problem, the board approved two temporary faculty positions for the spring semester, a business teacher and a new speech teacher. The total number of new teaching positions at Sauk this year is nine.

Board member Robert Wolf said that he needed more time to consider budget changes. Edison stated that a final decision on the budget could be postponed until the Sept. 22 meeting, but that a tax levy would have to be adopted at that time, also. Further discussion on the budget was tabled until then.

A letter from David E. Youker, president of the college faculty association, requested that a grievance regarding evaluation of teachers be submitted to arbitration. The grievance, according to legal counsel Robert Castendyck, anticipates a number of items which haven't occurred, primarily the use of student evaluations to determine dismissal of teachers.

Chairman of the Board Ronald Coplan said, "There has been a misunderstanding by faculty as to how student evaluation is to be used." Coplan called for an open meeting to explain how the information is to be used. Dr. Cole warned Coplan not to compromise the administration's position by negotiating the issue. "We should still proceed with what we are doing," he said.

A proposal to purchase magnetic tape drives, which are presently rented, was brought before the board by Wally Clevenger. Clevenger told the board that the $14,654 outlay would pay for itself in 20 months, considering current rental rates. The decision to make the purchase, plus discussion on future computer terminal requirements, was tabled until the next meeting.

A nationwide problem involving veterans' attendance at classes was brought to the attention of the board. A news article entitled "Chiseling on the GI Bill" was offered. According to the article, many veterans are collecting educational benefits by signing up for classes but not attending. Dr. Cole advised that the problem was not widespread at Sauk Valley but that he was monitoring the situation closely.

The board accepted donations of equipment from two firms. Two Chrysler auto air conditioner compressors, valued at $10 each, were given by Herb's Auto Parts in Sterling for use in a heating and refrigeration course for mill workers. Sterling Community General Hospital donated a $400 X-ray machine to aid the radiology program.

FOCUS is Telegraph's new daily feature

Readers of The Telegraph on Monday were treated to the first daily feature, FOCUS.

The instructive panel will appear Monday through Friday each week and will make the boundaries of readers' living rooms the boundaries of the world.

Each FOCUS is a picture and short feature story about a person, place, event, or word in the news, offering interesting, often little-known sidelights on the big news stories of the day.

Each FOCUS features a challenging quiz question related to the story. It's an interesting, informative way of checking yourself and what you know about the background of today's news stories.

What is FOCUS like? You can find out for yourself by turning to page 9.

Throughout the year, little-known aspects of important national and international events will be covered in FOCUS, which is more than a news story and more than a news quiz, combining the best of both.

FOCUS is for readers of all ages, for young and old alike. All will enjoy the rich variety of information found in FOCUS and will like testing themselves against the challenging questions.

Students will find FOCUS especially valuable in connection with current events class in school. Many will want to save the daily FOCUS features for future reference and review.

FOCUS ties in with the weekly Visual Education Consultants current events filmstrip program sponsored by this newspaper in all schools in Dixon and in Amboy High School and Amboy Junior High School. Every week, students see and discuss a filmstrip covering the week's important national and international news. Many of the topics covered in FOCUS will also be discussed in the filmstrip. In addition, teachers may make daily newspaper reading assignments or choose discussion topics related to each day's FOCUS.

Parents, as well as students, will want to read FOCUS and try to puzzle out the quiz questions. Each Focus provides a ready-made topic for family discussion of today's events and issues. And, for those who are no longer in school themselves, it's a fun and informative way to keep in touch.

People's Bicentennial Commission doesn't represent the people

By RONALD REAGAN

Earlier this summer, in a western state, a young man approached me and asked if I would sign the Declaration of Independence.

He handed me what looked like the center spread of a newspaper. On one half was a reproduction of the Declaration of Independence backed by spaces for signatures. I tore it off, signed it and handed it back to him. The other half was something else again.

It was an ad for something called Peoples' Bicentennial Commission.

Despite its mild name and easy confusion with the official American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, the PBC doesn't represent the people, isn't interested in celebrating the Bicentennial and is not a federal commission.

Instead, it is a self-appointed band of political radicals intent on twisting the nation's 200th birthday to its own purposes.

Its leader is a self-proclaimed Socialist revolutionary, Jeremy Riskin, whose understanding of American history is hazy but whose zeal is not.

He says, "It makes no sense for the New Left to allow defenders of the system the advantage of presenting themselves as true heirs and defenders of the American Revolutionary tradition.

"Instead, the revolutionary heritage must be used as a tactical weapon to isolate the existing institutions and those in power by constantly focusing public attention on their inability to translate our revolutionary dream into reality."

Riskin's idea of translating "revolutionary dream into reality" is to organize a crowd of about 20,000 demonstrators (many of them apparently fugitives from the anti-Vietnam War movement, looking for a new cause) and have them try to break up official Bicentennial events.

That's what they tried to do in April, heckling President Ford as he spoke at Concord Bridge in commemoration of "the shot heard round the world."

Never mind the fact that the American Revolution was a war of independence from foreign domination and not an ideological class war of the type Riskin supports, the PBC hasn't the slightest hesitation gulling government bureaucrats into giving it some of your tax money to support its radical rhetoric and activities.

Stating as its purpose, "to research, assemble and disseminate to workers and students historical information on the lives and roles of working people during the Revolutionary War period, with an emphasis on the ideas and events that shaped the formation of the early Republic," the PBC sought—and got—a grant of $7,210 from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Once the federal dollar faucet was turned on, it didn't stop. Last year, the NEH approved a grant of $394,000 for some of the PBC people to lecture throughout 13 western states.

Presumably, Riskin and his followers could have sold the NEH the Brooklyn Bridge if they'd wanted to, for, while submitting innocuous-sounding grant applications, Riskin was declaring to all who cared to pay attention that the PBC's real aim was to show that "... a genuine understanding of revolutionary ideals links Thomas Paine, Sam Adams and Benjamin Rush and the American people with Lenin, Mao, Che Guevara and the struggle of all oppressed people ..."

So much for U.S. history.

Plumbers issue warning

Lincolnway Plumbing and Piping Contractors Association, a registered Not For Profit Corporation in Lee and Whiteside Counties, in their interest in the public health and safety of our communities issues this warning: "Watch Out For Detergent Gases."

Recently, a peculiar type of accident struck two housewives undertaking a household chore in separate locations but under similar circumstances. Both were using an ordinary toilet bowl cleaner. Dissatisfied with the way stains were being removed, each decided to add a household bleach and stirred the mixture with a brush. As a result, one died quickly—the other spent a long, long time in a hospital.

Don't make the mistake of thinking because certain household products are good and useful, a combination will do a better job. On the contrary, this may be not only a waste of time and effort by producing poorer results through neutralizing or diluting one another, but may prove disastrous. Stick to the safe rule: read the label carefully and follow the manufacturer's directions exactly. Keep in mind that modern scouring powders often contain chlorine bleach.

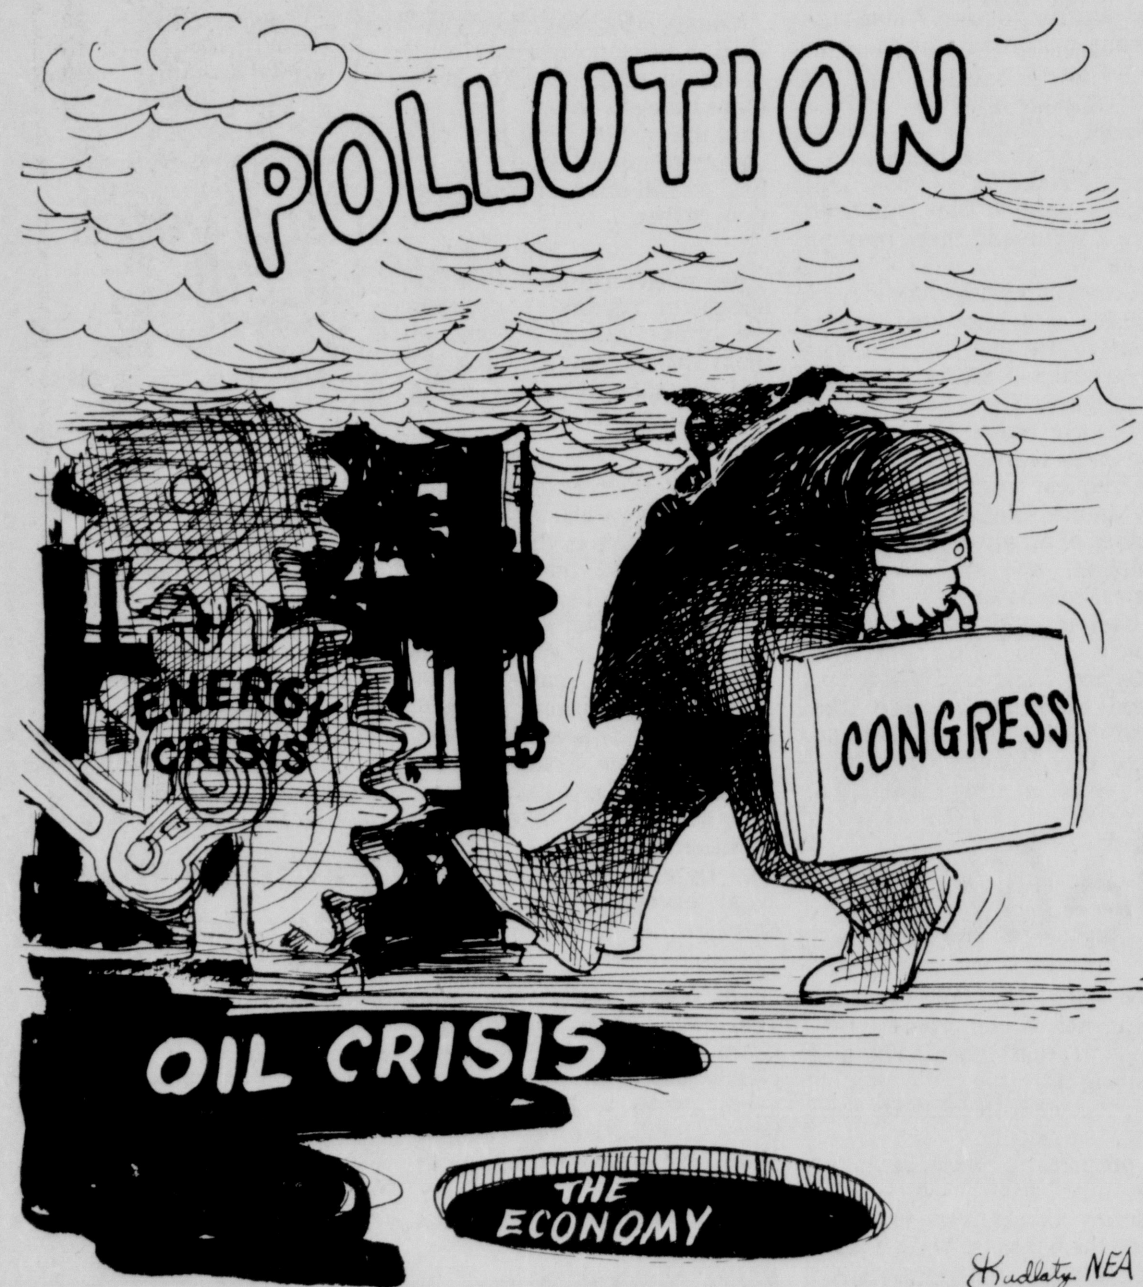

Economically, it's unsound to use hypochlorite (chlorine) bleach in toilet bowls, sinks and bathtubs, or on electric appliances. This will, in time, dull and roughen the fine smooth porcelain surface which is attractive as well as utilitarian.

Never mix bleaching agents with any other cleaning components.

Lincolnway through the combined knowledge and experience of their members invites you to direct any questions you may have in connection with plumbing or heating by letter or telephone call to their headquarters, located at P.O. Box 446, Rock Falls, 61071, or phone 625-6852. There is no obligation and your questions will be answered promptly.

Kent State wounds heal?

By DON OAKLEY

The words of Robert I. White, who was president of Kent State University at the time of the shootings on the campus on May 4, 1970, probably sum up the feelings of a great many Americans regarding that tragedy.

Interviewed by reporters after a jury in Cleveland absolved him, along with Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes and 27 Ohio National Guard officers and men, of civil damages in the deaths of four students and the wounding of nine others, he said that he was "pleased and relieved, but no, I cannot say that I am happy. It is not possible to be happy."

It is not possible for any American to be happy over the outcome, for nothing can ever restore to life the two young men and two young women senselessly cut down that day, or restore to full health the one student who will be confined to a wheelchair for the rest of her life.

But at least it is possible to hope that, at long last, the dead will be allowed to rest and the nation to put the Kent State tragedy behind it. The parents of the students and the other complainants have had their day in court—indeed, many long days in a trial that lasted 14 weeks.

"My daughter will never rest in her grave," cried the mother of one of the slain students, however. Anguished, unbelieving of the verdict, newly embittered, she and the other parents immediately claimed that the trial was unfair, the judge biased, the jury "ignorant" and vowed to appeal.

Who, really, can blame them? They have been living with this thing for five years, hoping for the day when their children's killers would be brought to what they considered to be justice—but also ignoring the fact that it has not been easy for the accused to live under a legal shadow for five years, and steadfastly refusing to acknowledge that the guardsmen, as much as their children, were the victims of a series of events they had no part in starting.

Neither in this trial, nor in a previous criminal trial of guardsmen that ended in a directed acquittal, nor in other hearings and inquests, was clear and unmistakable proof of guilt and premeditation on anyone's part brought forward. To have found the defendants liable for damages would not have been justice for the dead but injustice to the living.

If the Kent State parents continue to press the issue, is there anything really to be gained other than a deepening of their sorrow?

Take it from Here

REFLECTIONS—The Ford administration's announced policy not to financially aid floundering New York City which is teetering on the verge of bankruptcy was explained by William Simon, secretary of the treasury, on Sunday's NBC Meet the Press program.

"My first responsibility as secretary of the treasury is to protect the fiscal condition of the United States and to give aid to support to the dollar," declared Simon.

Observers have prophesied NYC can only last through this week unless some help is forthcoming from some source.

The New York Legislature and Gov. Hugh L. Carey are said to be working on some plan to keep the city from defaulting on its obligations.

Payrolls were met last week by borrowing from state employee pension funds and many see the end of the line coming in the next seven days.

Simon acknowledged the problem and said the only role the federal government could play is to assure various aid grant payments due

New York City be paid on schedule.

The treasury's head man noted if the federal government intervened in the NYC crisis by extending aid in some form it would open a new program of debts and any help extended to the nation's largest metropolis would have to be made available for every unit of local government in the U.S.

He complained if such a program was launched it would open a new line of securities which would, in effect, be better than the United States' own debt papers, and furthermore would pre-empt credit from being extended to the private sector of the economy.

Finally, Simon said he believed U.S. involvement in financial affairs of cities and states is a violation of the states' right guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution.

The spokesman for the Ford administration asserted the NYC crisis is a financial problem and "default can be avoided if proper steps are taken. I would hope the New York governor and the State Legislature work with deliberate haste," concluded Simon.

Simon briefly commented on the federal welfare system and said President Ford has instituted a thorough study of the program and declared he favors an income maintenance program to replace the present system.

The federal official indicated, in his opinion, the latter would be more equitable and more easy to administer.

He has been vocally critical of the food stamp program and Sunday took time to do what he called to "Set remarks he has said in context."

Simon declared himself in favor of food stamps but commented the program was started out to help poor people and "I want to see the eligibility requirements tightened so only the needy families will be able to purchase food stamps."

Finally, Simon said he was not concerned with the fact that Lynette Fromme was able to get within two feet of President Ford last week and stated he felt the Secret Service men act with the finest professionalism of any law enforcement people in the county.

Things Dixon Talked About

10 YEARS AGO

The Dixon High School Boosters Club will hold a Parents' Night on Friday at 7 p.m. at Lancaster Gym. All Dixon High School parents, friends and interested fans are invited to attend. An introduction of players, an equipment demonstration, a briefing on rules changes for 1965, and a short showing of some of Dixon's formations.

The Women's Elks Tennis team, which again this year won the Northern Illinois Tennis Association Title. The Dixon team has never lost the NIT championship. A little trophy will be displayed in the Elks Club, and the big one is a traveling one. A few squad members are Carla Covert, Mrs. Emma Hubbs, Sharon Marshall, Sue McCoy, Carol Cooper and Janet Boward.

25 YEARS AGO

The jury has been selected for the annual exhibition of painting by Dixon artists which opens Dec. 12 at the Loveland Community House. It includes an art commentator of the Chicago Tribune, and a director of the Davenport Art Gallery.

The principal of the Dixon High School announced today that season football tickets for 1950 will go on sale next Monday. No limit has been put on the number available since it is felt that the supply will match the demand. The price for a four-game ticket is $3. The admission cost is $2.50 and the tax makes up the fifty cents additional charge.

100 YEARS AGO

The management of the horse fair have decided to condense and hold only three days instead of four, as advertised. The fairs have heretofore, when continued four days, dragged for want of attendance.

We learn from reliable quarters that the pin-back fashion will not last much longer and The Telegraph does not regret the change; nevertheless we can but exclaim in the language of Shakespeare: "What a loss our ladies will have of these trim vanities."

John Fanella, computer.

There's a "device" in this room that's equipped with an immense memory bank that can receive customer complaints, sort through a maze of lines and cables, then send a crew to the trouble spot, all in a matter of minutes. That's him in the striped shirt.

His name is John Fanella and he's one of the many Edison dispatchers who are ready for action 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Because when there's an emergency, it's the dispatcher who gets the call. He's the man who uses raw information and his powers of deduction to estimate where, along the thousands of miles of overhead lines and underground cable, the problem lies. He's the man who then sends out the emergency crews to track it down and solve it. And because electricity is so vital to the welfare of a city, he must do all this with computer-like efficiency—whether the problem is an overloaded transformer or a tornado.

John Fanella has been through storms so bad that emergency crews had to be called in from as far away as Colorado. He's worked through the night restoring electricity to a factory so people could go back to work in the morning. He's even sent out a man to rescue a pet cat stranded on a pole.

In a day when some companies rely heavily on the impersonal response of a computer, we're glad to have John and our other dispatchers. As he puts it, "I have the highest respect for this department and our people. They're the most dedicated people I've ever met. But you've got to be dedicated to be in this business."

Soviet agriculture trails ideology

MOSCOW — (LENS) — Just how bad is the Soviet harvest this year, and how serious will the consequences be? American experts have now revised their estimates of the Soviet grain crop downward yet again, from 185 million to 180 million tons. That is 35 million tons lower than planned, and 43 million tons below the record harvest of 1973; and it could still turn out even worse.

The Russians, apparently hoping that a bumper crop in the virgin lands of Kazakhstan and Siberia will make up for losses in the drought-ridden western regions, still claim that the harvest will be better than this. If they are wrong, the Russians will have to buy more grain in the west, with at least some effect on world inflation. But a harvest failure will also have political consequences in Russia itself.

It is unlikely to cost Leonid Brezhnev his job, as the disastrous 1963 harvest partly cost Khrushchev his; Brezhnev's other policies are doing better than Khrushchev's were in 1963-64. But the Russians have already ordered some 14 million tons of Western, mainly American, grain (and have now been warned off buying any more until the Americans know what their own total crop will be). Even if this year's Soviet harvest proves a bit better than the American estimates, the grain already ordered will eventually add about $2 billion to the already large deficit (maybe another $2 billion) Russia is expected to have in its trade with the West in 1975.

This will tarnish Brezhnev's record at next February's party congress, when he was generally expected to reap his honors and announce his retirement, the only totalitarian leader in living memory to do so voluntarily. Nature has everything to do with harvests: ups and downs must be expected and climatic conditions will probably never permit the Soviet Union to achieve a productivity approaching that of America or China. But the Soviet Union should be able to meet its needs in the worst of years and produce exportable surpluses in better times. The fact that it cannot is one of the worst of Soviet failures.

The Soviet Union has admittedly solved one major social-cum-political problem while failing to solve the economic one. Until the early 1950s the Soviet leaders saw their massed peasantry — resentful of collectivization, and hankering after private property — as the main threat to their regime. In 1940 farming accounted for about half of Russian manpower. As recently as 1960 the Soviet population was still slightly more rural than urban, and 37 per cent of the labor force worked on the land. Now town-dwellers make up 50 per cent of the population, and less than a quarter of the labor force is working in agriculture — and only 18 per cent on collective farms, as distinct from the pure state farms. The peasants' private plots, the last vestiges of private property in the countryside, now account for a mere 15 per cent of marketable farm output. Solzhenitsyn's constituency, the rural Russia that looks nostalgically to the past, is dwindling, and all the evidence suggests that the process is irreversible.

So they have cut down the number of people making food; but they haven't made up for it by a big enough increase in productivity. In the past 15 years investment in farming has risen faster than in industry and its share of the total has nearly doubled, from 14 per cent to 20 per cent. Prices have been raised and fixed for five-year periods, with a special bonus for surpluses.

The big gap in living standards between the town and the countryside has somewhat narrowed. Production has risen substantially: what this year looks like a bad grain crop would have been a record in Khrushchev's time. But it hasn't been enough.

Part of the trouble is that Russians now want more than bread. When their income rises, so does the demand for all sorts of food, and meat in particular, for the average Russian still eats only half as much meat as the average American. The expansion of meat and dairy farming, good though it looks in percentage terms, simply has not kept pace with demand. The planners are still waiting for the breakthrough in productivity. Although the targets of the current five-year plan were relatively modest and looked fairly realistic — an increase of 21 per cent over the preceding five-year period — they again remain unfulfilled.

Any visitor to the Soviet countryside is struck by the contrast between the parts that look like 19th Century central Europe and the model farms used for guided tours — modern by any standards, and often equipped with the latest machinery imported from the United States or Western Europe.

But equipment is not efficient. In some areas tractors stand idle for lack of qualified drivers and mechanics; half the specialists produced for the farms suddenly vanish because they have found jobs in the towns; precious wheat is fed to cattle because of aberrations in the price mechanism. Yields per man, per acre — even per cow — vary enormously, not just from republic to republic or from region to region but from one farm to its neighbor.

In terms of the share of the population employed on the land, Russia today is roughly where continental Western Europe stood some 20 years ago.

SMOKE ALERT

Do you sleep on an upper floor in your home? Is there an elderly or handicapped person in your home? Do you live a considerable distance from the fire station?

If your answer to any of these questions is Yes, you cannot afford to be without a Smoke Alert in your home. This is the very newest device in early warning fire protection. It will detect a fire without the benefit of smoke, flame or heat. You can have this protection installed in your home for $9.50. U.I. and N.F.P.A. approved.

—Annual pit barbecue held in Oregon—

OREGON — More than 650 persons were fed barbecued beef Wednesday night at the annual pit barbecue sponsored by the Ogle County Livestock Feeders Association and Cooperative Extension Service. The meal was served on the lawn in the area of the Ogle County Farm Bureau building west of Oregon on the Pines Road.

In Boston on June 16, 1775, British Gen. Gage issued a proclamation offering a pardon "in the King's name, to all, except Samuel Adams and John Hancock, who will lay down their arms." Colonists were warned that "those who do not accept this pardon will be regarded as rebels and traitors." Three days later, June 19, the Massachusetts Provincial Congress, in reply to Gen. Gage's offer, declared that all those who "shall aid the British are enemies and traitors to their country." The World Almanac notes.

Bob Schwartz, of the University of Illinois Agricultural Economic Department, was the speaker for the Outlook meeting and told of present facts about farm marketing and the future trends. He stated that the auto industry is one of the big problems that must improve before improvement will be noticeable elsewhere. He predicted that grain farmers income will be down, cattle feeders and hog feeders will be up but few changes right now. He estimated corn price to be about $2.50 and soybeans at approximately $4 to $6. He said hogs are 19 per cent fewer market stock on farms on 1 than previously and should bring hog prices up for hog farmers.

At the Consumer Information meeting, Mrs. Donna Mann, Extension Home Adviser, Mrs. Amy Griswold, Assistant Home Adviser, and Mrs. William Urbaneck, Oregon High School Home Economic teacher, explained the cuts of meat and described how to cut your own choice cuts to make the most of the buy and save on price as it is cut by the butcher. The use of crock pots was demonstrated as the logical way to cook cheaper cuts to make the most tender meats for the table. Several recipes were given out of the foods prepared and served for tasting by those attending the meeting.

Earl Gocken, Stillman Valley, is president of the Ogle Livestock Feeders Association and Dick Dollmeyer is secretary-treasurer.

Everybody has a natural gas detector.

But what should you do if it ever detects?

Odds are you won't have a gas leak in your home. But if you do, your nose will let you know. Because, while natural gas has no odor of its own, Northern Illinois Gas Company adds an odorant that gives it a distinctive smell. It's one of hundreds of precautions we take to make gas the safest energy you can use. And if you'll take these few simple precautions, you'll help make it still safer.

Natural gas safety procedures:

1. Keep our phone number handy.
There's a Northern Illinois Gas Company (NI-Gas) emergency phone number for your area listed in your local telephone directory. Look it up now and write it down with other emergency numbers you keep near your phone.
2. Find the gas shutoff valve for your home.
It's located just ahead of your gas meter. If you can't find it, ask your NI-Gas meter reader to point it out. This valve shuts off all gas service for your home. Be sure all adult members of your family know where it is.
3. If you smell gas, call NI-Gas immediately.
A faint odor of gas near an appliance may be of no consequence. A pilot light may be out and simply need relighting. But if there's any doubt, call us immediately. NI-Gas representatives are on duty around the clock. They'll come right to your home and make a thorough inspection.
4. If the odor is strong or persistent, you can follow these procedures:
  - Ventilate the building by opening windows at top and bottom. Start where odor is strongest.
  - Do not operate any electrical switches or pull any plugs from outlets.
  - Extinguish open flames. Use only manual controls on appliances.
  - Get everyone out of the building.
  - Shut off gas service at the meter and do not turn it on again. Let the NI-Gas representative do it.
  - Call NI-Gas and your fire or police department. Use a neighbor's phone.

NI-Gas _____ Fire _____ Police _____
Tear out these instructions now, make sure everyone in your family reads them, and save for future reference. NI-Gas and NI-Gas customers have one of the best safety records in the country. With your help, we'll keep it that way.

Take it from 'Fascinating Womanhood'

Marriage can be fascinating business

NEW YORK — (NEA) — All day Ralph Cramden has sat cramped behind the wheel of his bus, fighting New York traffic in order to provide for his household. He stands now in the middle of his dingy apartment — hot, hungry, harassed — and bellows: "Alice! Where's my dinner!"

The bedroom door opens and Alice appears. She's dressed in gingham, her hair is curled and she's nicely, though not overly, made-up. She radiates happiness, a worthy characteristic, and female dependency. Pouting, she goes to Ralph and playfully beats him on the chest. "Oh, you big strong man," she purrs, "don't be angry with poor, little me." Charmed, Ralph chuckles, apologizes and sweeps Alice off to the nearest Burger King. The evening will end in heart-pounding, romantic love, the stuff of which Victorian novels are made.

"The Honeymooners," as written, perhaps, by Helen B. Andelin, a 55-year-old Santa Barbara housewife and mother of eight whose book, "Fascinating Womanhood," recently published in paperback by Bantam, is averaging 1,000 sales a day, according to the publisher.

Now, to be perfectly fair, had Mrs. Andelin written the scene, Alice would have an imaginative, nutritious meal on the table and the apartment would shine with a Good Housekeeping sheen. This, in keeping with her role as Domestic Goddess. Otherwise, her behavior and characteristics faithfully reflect Mrs. Andelin's concept of the sure-fire way for any wife to get any husband—to abandon his nasty ways and spend his time cherishing his childlike, saucy mate.

In 1965, Mrs. Andelin and her husband, Dr. Aubrey R. Andelin (a nonpracticing dentist who gave up teeth years ago for "business"), published "Fascinating Womanhood" themselves, in response to popular demand.

"Helen had developed this philosophy to improve our marriage (she felt loved but not cherished)," Dr. Andelin says, "and she began holding classes for other women at home. Every morning at six, can you imagine? Well, these classes grew and success stories began coming in, and she finally saw the need for a book."

So did at least 400,000 others, from the Bible belt to Boston, who paid $6.95 for the hardcover copy. They also began taking the correspondence "Fascinating Womanhood" classes sponsored by the Andelin Foundation, a "sort of nonprofit organization," Dr. Andelin says, and offered through various churches and schools. The eight-week course costs $20. Also available through the Foundation or the Andelins' publishing company are: a "Domestic Goddess Planning Notebook," at $8.50; a pamphlet entitled "Fascinating Womanhood Applied to Sexual Problems," for $1.00; Dr. Andelin's book on the ideal man, "Man of Steel and Velvet," for $7.95; and "The fascinating Girl," Mrs. Andelin's text for single women, also $7.95.

Helen B. Andelin is youthful, pretty and childlike. Unpolished. In short, she's a testament to her philosophy which is based on the Scriptures ("The greatest source of human thought") and her own observations.

"I did go to the library first," she says, "but I couldn't find many books about relationships. I read one by Simon D. Boyer?" She stumbles over the name, then grimaces. "I was horrified."

"If you live my philosophy and honor a man's rights and decisions," she insists, "it will work for everyone. We have women of all walks of life and religions taking the courses. Even Jayne Meadows swears the book has changed her marriage for the better."

Basically, her book calls for he shall rule over thee." "Don't be smarter than he is. Don't move furniture or wear tweeds. Steer clear of women's lib ('A competent woman stands as a threat to the male ego...'); make hubby handle the finances ('Women are not designed... to worry extensively about money. They become depressed... lose their sparkle and feminine charm...'); and have a girlish trust in him. (If he wants to invest all your savings in swampland in Boca Raton, well, God moves in mysterious ways.)"

Speaking of God, Mrs. Andelin who is a devout Mormon, favors a man's right to religious freedom, including his right not to believe. But how, then, can "Fascinating Womanhood" work, based as it is on the Bible, if he doesn't believe? Mrs. Andelin pouts. "It's not a working relationship, then," she replies.

Sinfulness and pornography are sticky points, too. The first, she says, leads to "depression, nervousness and mental illness." The second, to "discord of the spirit..." Shouldn't she provide women, then, with working definitions of sinfulness and pornography so they know what to avoid? Mrs. Andelin sulks. "The Supreme Court can't define pornography, how can I? Besides, I don't want to get into the finer points of the book. This isn't a scientific book, it's a moral one."

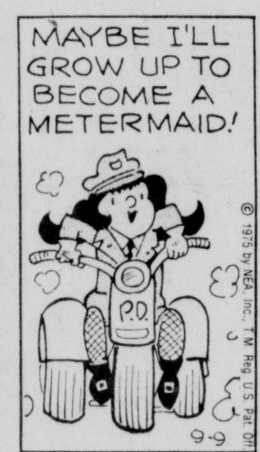

And then there are Helen Hayes and Ann Blyth, two "fascinating" women, among others Mrs. Andelin cites in her book. Their lives, she says, will reveal the qualities she advocates. Has she examined their lives? Is she certain, for example, that Ms. Blyth is a Domestic Goddess and not just a warmhearted spokeswoman for Hostess cupcakes?

"I don't know," she says irritably. "It's just an impression I have of these women." True to her childlike teachings, she all but stamps her foot and says: "Sometimes I just make a statement because I think it's true."

How to peel onions without crying

Dear Readers: With everything that is happening in the world, do you know what people are concerned about this week? Would you believe it's how to peel onions without crying?

Recently I printed a letter from a reader who had the thing licked. "I learned the trick from my mother-in-law," she boasted. And then she went on to say, "If you start at the root of the onion and peel up you'll never shed a tear."

Well, I did a little home research and ended up with bloodshot eyes and a runny nose. I told my "little helper" to give my regards to her mother-in-law.

This is what the mail has been like all week:

"Weep no more, my lady. Just put an electric fan on your work-counter when you peel onions and it will blow all those awful fumes away."—Michigan

Fan

"Why cry when you can put a plastic bag over your head and get the job done dry-eyed and in record time?"—Cincinnati Clara

"Our home-ec teacher taught us how to peel onions and keep smiling. Just put on sunglasses, sweetie."—Atlanta Fan

"If you stick a whole slice of white bread in your mouth you'll never shed a tear. Grandma taught me this trick when I was a bride."—Grand Rapids Fan

"No more bawling over the onions. Not since my next-door neighbor told me to slice them submerged in a bowl of cold water. But be careful and don't cut your finger."—Rosemary In Rochester

"Just put the onions in the freezer for 15 or 20 minutes before you cut them and your problem is solved."—Las Vegas Hash Slinger

"My great-uncle served in World War I and brought a gas mask home from France as a souvenir. The darned thing is perfect for peeling onions. But don't answer the door wearing one. The paper boy came to collect one day and the poor kid almost fainted."—St. Louis

"Put a clothespin on your nose and keep your mouth open. It never fails."—Memphis, Tenn.

"I wear my husband's motorcycle helmet with the goggles when I slice onions and I haven't shed a tear since I thought the stunt up."—Manhattan Cook

"Put a large hunk of raw potato in your mouth and you'll never cry over an onion again as long as you live."—Jackson, Miss.

"If you wear contact lenses keep them in. They make your eyes 'onion proof'."—Little Rock

So, there you are, Dear Ones, a whole host of helpful hints to choose from. But remember—I'm not guaranteeing any of them. You're strictly on your own. And please don't write and tell me what works and what doesn't. If I never see another letter about onions again it will be too soon.—Yours Truly, Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I've been sitting here for 30 minutes trying to say this in language you can print. Here's the best I can do. After 15 years of marriage my husband is suggesting things I think are far out. What is right and what is wrong in married sex?—N.N.

Dear N.N.: There's no "right" or "wrong." If two people agree, anything is OK. It's up to them to decide. Note, I said TWO people.

Bride-elect honored at shower

WALNUT — Miss Lynda Watkins was honored at a bridal shower recently in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Oren Johnson.

Guests were entertained by several appropriate games presented by Mrs. Keith Hill, aunt of the bride-elect. The gift table was decorated in the brides chosen colors of blue and white centered with a bride doll. Assisting Miss Watkins at the gift table, were Miss Paula Fairbanks and her sister, Jeaneva Watkins.

Mrs. Gail Watkins, mother of the bride-to-be and Mrs. Charles Blaine, mother of the prospective groom, presided at the serving table.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Marvin Johnson, Mrs. Herbert Christenson Sr., Mrs. Keith Hill and Mrs. Herbert Christenson Jr.

Miss Watkins will become the bride of Jim Blaine of Ohio, August 30th in Dixon.

Reiling-Bethel exchange vows

MESA, Ariz. — Queen of Peace Catholic Church, Mesa, Ariz., was the setting for the recent evening ceremony that united Miss Sherrie Reiling and Richard Bethel. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reiling, Apache Junction, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bethel, Scottsdale, Ariz.

The Rev. Clemens Hut conducted the double-ring nuptial service. Organist was David McDaniel, Scottsdale, and Jim Carpenter, Scottsdale, was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white full-length, ruffled gown of French designed scalloped Chantille which swept into a cathedral train. Her gown featured a Sabrina neckline trimmed in seed pearls and iridescent sequins, wrist-length sleeves, and a fitted lace bodice. The triple-tiered veil of illusion was bordered with Chantille and attached to a headpiece featuring a white satin rose and ribbons trimmed in seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The bridal bouquet was made of red and pink rosebuds, pastel daisy and button mums, ivy, and baby's breath, attached to a large white lace fan.

Mrs. Benny Burns, Tempe, Ariz., matron of honor, wore a floor-length, short-sleeved yellow dotted swiss gown trimmed in white lace. She wore white wrist-length gloves and a white picture hat trimmed with yellow daisies, ribbons, and baby's breath. The bouquet consisted of pastel daisy and button mums, and baby's breath attached to a small white lace fan.

The maid of honor was Miss Kimberly Reiling and bridesmaid was Miss Michelle Reiling, both sisters of the bride. They respectively wore a pink gown and a blue gown identical to the matron of honor's.

Best man was Robert Bethel, Scottsdale, Ariz., brother of the groom. The ushers were Christopher Bethel, Mark Bethel, and Gregory Reiling, brothers of the bride couple.

A buffet reception and dance was given in honor of the newlyweds in the Superstition Skies Lounge, Apache Junction, Ariz., following the ceremony. A pastel yellow, three-tiered cake decorated with white daisies was cut by Mrs. Ken Burns, Mesa, Ariz. Mrs. Floyd Schmoll, Port Byron, Ill., and Mrs. Helen Toepfer, Cordova, Ill., grandmothers of the bride, poured coffee and punch. Dance music was later provided by the "Sweet Jam" rock group of Scottsdale.

The bride is a graduate of Dixon High School and Sauk Valley College, Dixon, Ill., and of Arizona State University, Tempe. She is presently a teacher at Mesa High School, Mesa, Ariz.

Her husband graduated from Mt. Saint Michael High School, Bronx, N.Y., and attended Bronx Community College and Scottsdale Community College. He is presently employed as a police officer for the city of Phoenix. Since their wedding trip to Southern California, the couple has been residing in Mesa.

Minnie Bell Rebekah Lodge

A recent meeting of Minnie Bell Rebekah Lodge was conducted by Noble Grand Mrs. Billie Baker. She appointed Mrs. Alia Kerley, left supporter to the noble grand; Mrs. Helen Sodini, warden; Mrs. Jane Leeper, left supporter to the vice grand; Catherine Siemens, inside guard; and Mrs. Leona Spencer, recording secretary.

At the meeting it was suggested that a soup, chili and sandwich card party be planned for Sept. 25 with vice grand Mrs. Bertha Moore in charge. The following announcements were made:

The Odd Fellows of District No. 23 will hold a joint meeting with a scramble supper on Sept. 18 at the Polo Lodge at 6:30 p.m.

The Past Noble Grand's Club will meet with Mrs. Clara Broughton Sept. 15, with Mrs. Fannie Morris as her assistant hostess.

Also the Past Noble Grand's Club of District 8 will have a scramble supper at Rock Falls on Sept. 30.

The annual meeting and installation of officers of District 8 Rebekah Association will be held at the Dixon lodge on Nov. 15 at 8 p.m.

The Dixon Lodge will sponsor a chili-soup supper on Oct. 31, at the hall.

The next scheduled meeting is Sept. 18 with Mrs. Lorraine Ide, Mrs. Ruth Jacobs, Mrs. Fannie Morris and Catherine Siemens in charge of the refreshment and social hour.

Rock River Grange

The Rock River Grange will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m., at the Grange Hall. At the meeting officers will be elected.

The women's activity committee is in charge of refreshments.

AAUW coffee

The Dixon Chapter of the American Association of University Women extend an invitation to college or university women of the community to attend a coffee Saturday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. and hear about the events for the 1975-76 year. It will be held in the home of Mrs. John Reever, 322 S. Dement. Members of AAUW are urged to attend and bring prospective members.

Hostesses for the coffee will be the officers: Mrs. Merlin Willard, president, Mrs. Roscoe Cox, Sr., first vice president, Mrs. David Williamson, secretary, and Mrs. A. P. Hamersmith, treasurer.

Additional information concerning AAUW membership may be obtained by calling the membership chairman, Mrs. Richard Battles.

Let's Talk About Decorating

By BEVERLEY CAPON

Why A Decorator?

Are you one of those skeptics who doubts the value of calling in a professional decorator? Just as you wouldn't attempt to diagnose your own illnesses or overhaul your car unless you were qualified, you shouldn't decorate your home alone unless you've had professional training.

Our interior decorators will be an invaluable help to you. They know all the latest trends in furniture styling and are familiar with hundreds of different patterns, textures, carpet designs, etc. Our decorators are trained in working within a budget too. If you're able to replace only a few pieces in a room and must incorporate some older furniture into your new scheme, our decorator will assist you in selecting harmonious pieces that will blend with your present furniture and create an attractive, well-balanced room.

Worried about ending-up with a room that reflects the decorator's personality but not yours? Don't be. The decorator's first job is discovering the tastes and living patterns of you and your family. After becoming familiar with these, he'll work with you in creating a room that reflects the real you.

Our decorating service is available to you at Dunbar's, in addition an unlimited selection of quality home furnishings. Stop in and talk with our professional decorator today.

Bad players misplay bad cards

By Oswald & James Jacoby
It has been said that bad cards make bad players. We aren't sure that this is so, but we do know that bad players tend to do even worse with bad cards.

West had one queen and no singleton and resigned himself to a loss the moment he looked at his hand.

Thus, it never occurred to him that when his partner bid all the way up to four clubs on his own that four spades to the queen-10 would warrant a four-spade bid.

Furthermore, West's hand fulfilled one requirement for a sacrifice bid. He was pretty sure that South would make four hearts.

South did just that, but look what would have happened if West had pulled himself together and bid four spades. North and South might have gone on to five hearts — down one. They might have doubled four spades or let East play

Four new TV series make debut tonight

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) Four new series debut tonight, but the only one we can honestly recommend is CBS' "Joe and Sons," a situation comedy about a widowed blue-collar worker raising two teen-aged sons.

NBC's newbie is "Joe Forrester," a cop show, while CBS' aid to law and order is "Switch," about two private eyes. Neither was available for advance screening prior to our deadline.

ABC's new "Welcome Back, Kotter," a sitcom co-authored and starring comedian Gabe Kaplan as a young Brooklyn schoolteacher, was shown via closed-circuit in advance. But there were technical woes.

The network's engineers somehow let the audio portion of a live tennis match on the circuit, causing cries of "40-Love!" atop such punchlines as "up yer nose with a garden hose."

ABC then whipped out a videotape cassette of Kaplan's second show, which was funny in spots and will be mused about here next Tuesday.

CBS' "Joe and Sons" stars Richard Castellano, a "Godfather" alumnus, as a middle-aged Italian-American trying to get some laughs out of life with his two sons, played by Barry Miller and Jimmy Baio.

The Big Crisis in tonight's opener concerns the fact that Mark, his oldest son, has skipped Mass for four Sundays. He also is uncertain whether God exists.

(The skipped-Mass theme may become a trend this season. It's also featured on the opening show of CBS' "Doc" Saturday sitcom.)

"Joe and Sons" starts off at a snail's pace, with a dull segment on how Pop discovers Mark has missed Mass. The discovery is aided by the arrival of his married sister, Josephine (Florence Stanley).

The dialogue thrashes about, with lines like, "Oh, Joe, I'm so full of love," and "Oh, Josephine, you're so fulla garlic," and you may be tempted to switch away. A word of warning: Don't.

All is saved by the arrival of comedian Jerry Stiller, who plays Gus Duzik, a colleague of Castellano at the factory and sort of a free-form Roman Catholic theologian.

He arrives with a bandage over one eye, explaining that it was the result of some drinking with the boys down at the tavern the previous night, which led to a game of reversible darts.

How do you play it? Well, he says, "you hold the darts like so and they throw the dartboard at you."

When Gus learns of Mark's latent heresy, he offers to explain the existence of God, saying he'd wanted to be a priest "but they kicked me outta Catholic school." How come? "I slugged a nun."

Then comes some wild, funny flights of religious fancy between Stiller and Castellano, such as when Stiller insists that Adam, before getting the boot from paradise, drew a picture of God.

"Oh, yeah," his pal sneers. "Where'd he get the crayon?" From the moment of Stiller's entrance, the proceedings showed a remarkably crisp improvement. If "Joe and Sons" can keep it up, they'll be the most welcome family on the sitcom block since the Bunkers.

"Joe and Sons" starts off at a snail's pace, with a dull seg-

The Doctor Says:

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB— Please tell me what I am doing wrong. How much weight can one expect to lose on a 400-500 calorie diet? I do not cheat. My daily exercise is the routine house-keeping plus a two-mile or more walk plus a half-hour bicycle ride.

According to some information I should be losing at least 10 pounds per week, but all I can manage is six. I am female, 46, and have lots to lose. I want to do it quickly.

DEAR READER— What are you doing wrong? Going on a 400-500 calorie diet. That is an invitation to developing a number of medical disorders and is not safe. As a rule of thumb no one should go on a diet of less than 1200 calories a day without medical supervision. And the maximum one should be losing after the first week (when you lose fluid and empty the digestive system which is not loss of fat) is about two pounds a week. Your diet must be deficient in calcium and a number of important vitamins.

Now, let's do a little sensible, plain arithmetic. A pound of body fat contains 3500 calories. If you are losing six pounds of fat a week that would mean your body used 21,000 calories more than you ate or an average of 3000 calories a day. Add to that the 500 you are eating, and your body under present conditions would be using 3500 calories a day. That is a lot of calories for women. Your two-mile walk a day uses only about 120 calories. The bicycling will be helpful, but the amount of calories used depends on speed and other factors. It is not likely, though, that you are using more than 400 calories for this, so your exercise program uses perhaps as much as 600 calories a day.

What happens to the other 2900 calories a day? Do you really think your daily house-keeping and basal needs would use that many calories? I don't. Then why are you losing so much weight? If you are, it means you are losing important muscle tissue, not just fat. When you get through with that program you will have lost a lot of body strength, and you will have altered your body so that it will be more difficult for you to avoid obesity in the future.

Muscle cells use more energy at rest than fat cells. As you lose them the amount of energy your body uses at rest will decrease. Crash diets lead to loss of vital muscle tissue.

The proper way to lose weight is to lose fat, not muscle, gradually. It is good to have an exercise program along with a diet to protect against loss of muscles.

DEAR DR. LAMB— My husband, 78, has to get up every night with cramps in his leg, sometimes in both legs. The cramps are very painful. First he thought it came from eating eggs once a week, but he hasn't eaten any for a long time now. He doesn't eat any fatty meat. Will you please explain what he can do about the cramps?

DEAR READER— He will need a careful examination. He may have poor circulation to his legs and feet. Don't let him put it off. For relief of symptoms he might get some benefit by wearing long, wool socks to bed at night. Keeping the feet warm with some safe device such as warm socks often helps prevent cramps. That is not a substitute for a good examination as he may need some medicine or other treatment.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE E-662: Laura P., aged 4, is a bright little girl. "Dr. Crane," her mother boasted, "Laura brushes her teeth both morning and night. And sometimes after the noon meal, too!"

"Thus far, she has had no cavities and we hope to keep her that way. So what other advice can you give us to help her retain her own natural teeth till she is a great-grandmother?"

Cupid's Magic
A girl's most valuable cosmetic ally is a set of clean, white teeth!

That's doubly true when they are set off by smiling lips that phrase sincere compliments for her companions.

So always be true to your teeth or they'll be false to you! And here are some dental facts not always known even by many parents who have graduated from college:

(1) Don't ignore cavities even in toddlers, as by thinking: "Oh, these are 'baby teeth' and will soon drop out, anyway!"

For cavities (caries) indicate a mouth that is susceptible to continual decay.

So keep even those "baby teeth" filled by your dental surgeon, if such decay ever starts.

(2) Beware of candy, at least except with meals, and employ sugar-free gum.

For sugar speeds up the action of bacteria and helps set the stage for decay, plus the resulting toothaches.

(3) Remember the dangerous dental Number 66.

For No. 66 refers to the sixth tooth from the midline in front, which erupts at about the sixth year.

There are four of these six-year molars, so inspect them with care.

For they are NOT "baby teeth," to be replaced by a second set later on.

So start at the midline in front and count back on both sides till you find those sixth teeth.

They are a child's first four permanent teeth!

And those six-year molars are the most likely teeth to contain a gold inlay or filling, or to be missing from an adult's mouth.

For decay therein is usually neglected by parents!

(4) Children usually have all of their "baby teeth" by the age of 5 years, and there are 20 of these—10 above and 10 below.

These 20 are replaced by a second set of 20 but numbers six, seven and eight on both sides, above as well as below, are one-and-only permanent molars! You don't get seconds for them!

(5) Dental flossing to remove the invisible decaying food particles between your teeth is regarded as even better than toothbrushing as a preventive of decay!

But combine the vigorous toothbrushing with flossing between your teeth.

(6) Beware when a tooth is removed without a replacement, for teeth "drift."

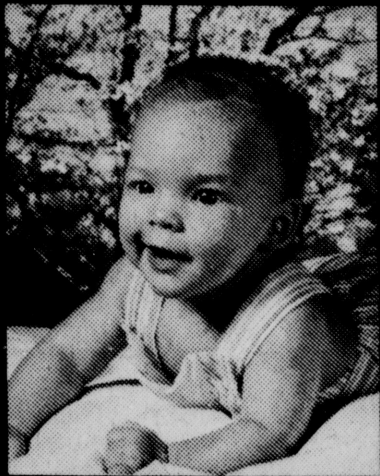

That means they slowly move to fill in the gap, often producing wide spaces between your front teeth.

(7) And if your child has protruding "buck teeth" have them straightened, for many youngsters become shy wall-flowers due to ugly teeth!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of the Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

Bike route signs illegal, says Burrs

Robert Burrs, Dixon Township supervisor, today said the signs indicating Grand Detour Road from Ill. 2 to the Medusa Cement Co., plant as a bike path will be taken down because Atty. Gen. William Scott has ruled they are illegally placed since the route is not officially designated as a bike path.

Burrs said there is a question of the liability to the township should someone be injured while riding on the route. "We put them up to help people," said Burrs, "but they will have to come down."

Hillcrest youth charged in crash

ROCHELLE — Danny Gosnell, 16, Hillcrest was charged Monday following a two-car collision on U.S. 51 at Ill. 38. Gosnell was charged after his auto struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Doris Batchelder, 40, 1208 Carrie Road. The Batchelder car was stopped at the stop light waiting before making a right turn onto Ill. 38 at the time of the accident. Gosnell was ticketed for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

Oregon man accused

OREGON — Claude C. Lancaster, 25, Oregon, was arrested Monday by Ogle County Sheriff's Deputies on a warrant for deceptive practice. The warrant accused Lancaster of writing a bogus $65 check drawn on the Ogle County National Bank in Oregon. Authorities are holding Lancaster in jail and he is scheduled to appear before Associate Judge Alan Cargerman today.

Vote switch in Rochelle clears way for home

ROCHELLE — A switch in voting by a Rochelle City Commissioner gave the go ahead for Ogle County officials to establish a foster home for county youths in Rochelle. Approval of a special use ordinance for the home was given Monday night by the City Council.

The ordinance, approved on a 3-2 vote, had originally been rejected by the council at a previous meeting. Commissioner L. R. "Tex" Dickinson, who had originally voted no on the issue, switched his vote, casting the approving vote for the home. Commissioners Clarence Rasmussen and M. Page Weeks stuck to their no votes. Mayor Bill Cipolla and Commissioner James I. McCaslin voted yes on the approval.

Dickinson, before casting his vote in favor of the special use ordinance, said "We have nothing to fear but fear itself."

Ashton contract accord

ASHTON — The Ashton School Board and Ashton Teacher's Association agreed on a teachers' contract for the 1975-76 school year Monday night at the regular board meeting.

The contract sets the base salary for teachers at $8,800 with all teachers receiving a four per cent increase in salary for each year of experience and a two per cent increase for each additional eight hours of college credit.

In other action the board approved, adopted the budget for the 1975-76 year. The budget lists expenditures at $851,000 and anticipated receipts at $771,000. This is the third year the budget has reflected deficit financing.

Radio stolen

The Lee County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft of a citizen's band radio taken from a car at a rural Dixon home.

Lenore Maxwell, Rt. 2, told authorities someone had taken the radio from her car sometime Sunday night while it was parked in her driveway. The radio was valued at $190.

Poloan arrested by Ogle deputies

OREGON — Two charges were placed against a Polo man Monday by Ogle County Sheriff's Deputies.

Samuel J. Logan, 22, was arrested in Oregon and charged with fraudulently obtaining public assistance and revocation of probation. Logan was taken to the Public Safety Building where he posted bond and was scheduled to appear in court at a later date.

Hung jury at trial

The trial of Edward W. Weinberg, charged with battery, has resulted in a hung jury.

After more than six hours of deliberation which lasted until 10:30 p.m. Monday night, word came that the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

Weinberg, a 27-year-old insurance claim agent from Freeport, was accused of making indecent physical advances of an insulting and provoking nature toward Teresa Scheffler, 23, during a claim investigation. The incident allegedly occurred at her residence at Moore's Mobile Home Park on July 1. Weinberg was representing General Casualty Co., Freeport, with which he has been employed for five years.

According to Assistant State's Attorney David Mandrgoc, a similar charge against Weinberg, involving Denise Saunders, 19, 708 Ottawa Avenue, which allegedly occurred thirty minutes after the reported Scheffler incident, is still pending.

Takes action to close jail at Mendota

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott announced today he has filed suit to close the Mendota municipal jail.

The suit, filed in the Circuit Court of LaSalle County, states that two inspections by agents of the Department of Corrections in the past year revealed numerous violations of the state's minimum standards for detention facilities.

Scott's legal complaint states that, among other violations, the city of Mendota has not provided constant 24-hour supervision of prisoners, and the physical facilities do not meet minimum standards relating to lighting, ventilation or sanitation.

Named as defendants in the suit are: The City of Mendota, and, in their official capacities, Mayor Murry Reeser and Police Chief Arthur Dalton.

Held on burglary warrant

OREGON — Lyle E. Jenkins, 31, LaFarge, Wis., was being held in jail this morning under $10,000 bond on a burglary charge issued on a warrant by Ogle County authorities.

Jenkins was arrested last week by FBI officials in LaCrosse, Wis. and returned to Oregon Monday after he waived extradition. He appeared before Associate Judge Alan Cargerman and placed under bond.

Jenkins was charged in connection with a June 11 burglary at the Paul Vance farm, rural Davis Junction. A tractor and a roto-tiller were taken in the burglary.

HUB meeting set Thursday

The monthly meeting of Project HUB (Help Us Breathe) will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in the private dining room at KSB Hospital.

A film, "Pulse of Life," will be presented by Mary Helfrich, RN, in-service coordinator at KSB Hospital. This film deals with emergency care in respiratory arrest and cardiac failure and should be of interest to everyone. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

Radio operator classes set

The Rock River Radio Club has announced that it will sponsor a class for amateur radio operation and Morse Code study.

The 16-week course is scheduled to begin Oct. 2. It will be held each Thursday thereafter from 7-9 p.m.

No fee is required to take the course. Students of any age are welcome. The course is suited for beginners and more advanced practitioners. This course is offered annually by the club.

Researchers hope to find Noxie monster

NOXIE, Okla. (AP)—The nauseous Noxie monster will come under the scrutiny of a specialized group of people over the weekend who hope to find the 7-foot-tall hairy beast.

Hayden Hewes of Edmond, associated with the Association for the Investigation of the Unexplained, said Monday he and a team of researchers will be camping out in the Noxie area in northeastern Oklahoma where the creature has been reported seen.

In addition to conducting interviews with persons who profess to have first-hand knowledge of the monster, Hewes said his group will be armed with cameras, tape recorders and a Geiger counter.

About half a dozen people have reported seeing the creature with eyes that reportedly glow in the dark and humanlike features. But a Missouri group spent last weekend in the Nowata County area and found nothing that had not already been trampled by curiosity seekers.

Hewes said he has filed reports of sightings of a similar creature in the Noxie area in 1972. He said the latest reports are "basically the same."

'Punkin' was bad, so they beat him to death

HOUSTON (AP) — Police quoted the three children, aged 9, 11 and 12, as saying "Punkin" was bad, so they pounded him with their fists and feet and whipped him with belts until he died.

"Punkin" was Robert Hillard Battles, 4. He was found dead Sunday from blows to the head, chest and abdomen, an autopsy showed.

The victim's brother, Daven, 5, also was beaten, investigators said. He was listed in fair condition in a hospital Monday night.

Police said the three children involved include two relatives and a neighbor of the dead boy.

The Battles boys, their 7-year-old sister and their mother, Rosemary Johnson Battles, 25, had recently moved in with another family at a house where the boy's body was found on a pallet in the living room Sunday morning.

Police said the adult women in the house were working as maids when the final attacks occurred.

Police quoted the three children as saying they beat Robert "for being bad," and that the Saturday night assault followed the breaking of a model car.

Lt. H.A. Contreras said the 11-year-old and the 12-year-old will be brought before a juvenile referee and murder charges requested.

He said the nine-year-old child was released to the custody of his parents because children under 10 cannot be held criminally liable.

"These are the youngest kids we've ever handled for murder that I can remember," Contreras said.

Hoffa's son says he thinks his father is now dead

DETROIT (AP) — The son of missing former Teamsters President James R. Hoffa said today for the first time he believes his father is dead — the victim of assassination — but does not know who killed him.

James P. Hoffa said he bases his belief on the length of time his father has been missing — nearly six weeks — and the fact that investigators have come up with no solid leads as to the ex-Teamsters boss' whereabouts.

James P. Hoffa, a Detroit attorney, said he believes his father was "assassinated" and that his body will never be found.

"Whoever assassinated my father did it in such a way that we won't find him," said the young Hoffa.

One of the central figures in the case, reputed Mafia figure Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone, took the Fifth Amendment when he appeared Monday before a federal grand jury probing Hoffa's disappearance.

Witnesses, however, supported Giacalone's alibi that he was at the Southfield Athletic Club the day Hoffa disappeared.

Giacalone is the man Hoffa's family says Hoffa planned to meet the day he vanished, July 30. Giacalone has denied he had scheduled a meeting with Hoffa.

In invoking the Fifth Amendment guarantee against self-incrimination on Monday, Giacalone became the second key witness to refuse to cooperate with the federal grand jury.

The other was Hoffa's foster son, Charles L. "Chuckie" O'Brien.

Giacalone refused to talk to reporters. His attorney, S. Allen Early, said Giacalone "has nothing to hide in the Hoffa situation."

Early said Giacalone exercised his Fifth Amendment right because he is already under indictment for tax evasion and mail fraud.

Giacalone, through his attorney, told U.S. District Court Judge Ralph Freeman that pre-trial publicity in the Hoffa matter has jeopardized his right to a fair trial in the mail fraud case. The charges involve fees paid to Giacalone for selling a medical plan to the Teamsters. Giacalone will ask next Monday for a postponement of the trial, now scheduled to begin Sept. 23.

Doug Ryan, a masseur at the Southfield Athletic Club, told reporters following a grand jury appearance that Giacalone was at the club for a rubdown the day Hoffa disappeared. Ryan said Giacalone departed at about 2:25 p.m., about an hour before Hoffa was last heard from.

Bob Taylor, owner of a barber shop near the club, also testified and later told reporters Giacalone stopped by his shop about 2:30 p.m.

Bernard L. Humphrey, an attorney, said Giacalone was with him in his office, also near the club, between 2:30 and 4 o'clock that day.

The last person known to have talked to Hoffa was Louis C. Linteau, a long-time friend, who said Hoffa telephoned him at about 3:30 p.m. on the day Hoffa disappeared and asked, "Where is Giacalone?"

Ryan said he made tape recordings of his recollection of Giacalone's presence at the club "in case something happens to me."

Kleppe nominated to be secretary of interior

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today nominated Thomas S. Kleppe, administrator of the Small Business Administration, to be secretary of the interior.

Kleppe, 56, a Republican and former two-term North Dakota congressman, would succeed Stanley K. Hathaway, who submitted his resignation July 25.

The nomination of Kleppe had been rumored for several days, and North Dakota congressmen said last week they understood Ford would name him to the job.

Kleppe, of Bismarck, N.D., served in Congress from 1966 to 1970. If confirmed he would be the first North Dakotan to sit on a presidential Cabinet.

Hathaway, who served only six weeks in the interior job, resigned for health reasons.

Kleppe was named to the SBA post in January 1971 by former President Nixon and was asked by President Ford to continue in that job.

He lost Senate races to Sen. Quentin Burdick in 1964 and 1970 by substantial margins.

He is a former mayor of Bismarck and a one-time Minneapolis investment banker.

Kleppe's position on environmental matters is largely a matter of speculation since he has little or no public record on current

1,500 children in unlicensed foster homes

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Officials say nearly 1,500 children under the state's care are living in unlicensed foster homes.

More children—exactly how many isn't known—may be living in foster homes which are more crowded than their licenses permit, according to figures supplied by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

A spokesman for DCFS Director Mary Lee Leahy said Monday that both state law and department policy prohibit the placement of state wards in unlicensed foster homes.

The spokesman, Don Schlosser, attributed the current situation—involving more than 500 unlicensed foster homes—to a misunderstanding of the law and policy by some case workers, particularly in the Chicago area, but he said: "We don't defend that practice in any sense."

Schlosser said Mrs. Leahy became aware of placements in unlicensed homes a short time after she became director in August 1974 and instituted a crash program to correct the situation. He said that since that time no new placements had been made in unlicensed homes.

Mrs. Leahy, 35, was named by Gov. Daniel Walker to replace Jerome Miller, the governor's first appointee to the position.

Schlosser, the department's director of community relations, declined to say whether Miller had known or had made any effort to find out whether any state wards were in unlicensed foster homes.

He said a staff report submitted to Mrs. Leahy a year ago showed more than 3,000 wards of the state in some 1,500 licensed foster homes.

State wards are children under 18 who have been placed in the state's custody by a court. Schlosser said some 26,000 children are wards of the state, about 12,000 of whom are in foster homes. Others are in their parents' homes, the homes of adoptive parents or in institutions run by the state or private agencies. The state pays $106 to $150 a month, depending on the child's age, for foster care.

Schlosser said new statistics, expected to be available this week or next, probably would show fewer than 1,500 children still in unlicensed homes. He said the latest available figures were compiled in April.

DCFS steadily reduced the number of wards in unlicensed homes during the past year both by moving children to other homes and by licensing additional homes, Schlosser said.

"To be fair, it should be said that the fact that a home is unlicensed doesn't mean that it's substandard," he said.

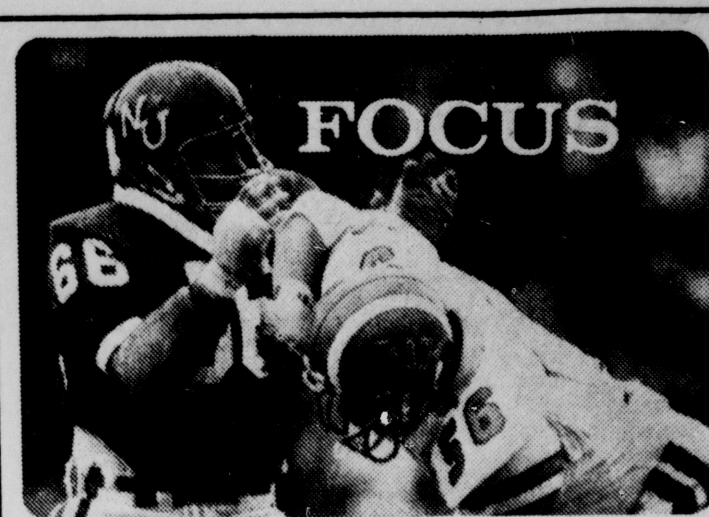

Schlosser said some case workers had thought they could place children in unlicensed homes if the home had applied for a license. He said these workers now have been told this is not allowed.

Schlosser said current figures showed some 400 children in homes crowded beyond their licensed limit. But he said this figure probably was inaccurate.

Computers used by the department count all children placed in a home during a particular month, although some of the placements are only temporary, Schlosser said.

Thus, he said, a home licensed for two children might be counted as having four by the computer even though each stayed only a week and no more than one was ever in the home at the same time.

Football Kickoff

The 100th season of organized collegiate football goes into full swing this week. The first college football conference — the American Intercollegiate Football Association — was formed in 1876, when Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Columbia universities met to adopt a uniform set of rules for the game. Yale was the first collegiate champion. College football was played with 15 men on a team until 1880. That year the Association gave in to Walter Camp's demand for 11-man teams. Camp introduced the idea of a center hiking the ball to a signal-caller and is considered the "father of American football." Today there are more than 600 collegiate football teams.

DO YOU KNOW — For what college team did the famous "Four Horsemen" play?

MONDAY'S ANSWER — New York City is nicknamed "The Big Apple."

Queen helps with barbecue

Dawn Hayenga, Ogle County's Beef Queen, was on hand to help out with an open-pit beef barbecue Sunday at the Rochelle Wildlife Conservation Club grounds. The occasion was the club's Bicentennial celebration. Approximately 1,400 persons were served. Besides games for children and adults, there were tours of the grounds by horse-drawn wagons, shooting competition with cap and ball rifles, and a Bicentennial Costume contest. The proceeds will be used to further the development of the lake on the grounds. (Telegraph Photo)

Seek authority to close nursing homes with serious deficiencies

CHICAGO (AP) — An official of the state Department of Public Health has called for legislation giving the department emergency powers to shut down nursing homes with "serious deficiencies" and to impose fines for less serious deficiencies.

Testifying Monday at a House subcommittee hearing on long-term care, Dr. Michael Werckle said, "It's rather difficult when you find a bad facility to do something immediately."

Werckle, associate director of health facilities, said the state department must go through lengthy hearing procedures before it can close or revoke a nursing home's license.

Licenses homes can be closed immediately only if a state's attorney obtains a court injunction, he added. "We are successful sometimes and not in other instances."

Werckle said he was speaking on behalf of Dr. Joyce C. Lash-of, department director, whose work on the encephalitis outbreak prevented her from testifying.

The head of the subcommittee, Rep. Joseph R. Lundy, D-Chicago, said the hearings were aimed at discerning the problems in the 1,000 facilities throughout the state.

"Recent advances in geriatric medicine and the increasing tendency of the aged and dependent to live apart from their families have created new problems for our society," he said. "To some extent, the growth of long-term care facilities is a response to those problems. Whether it is a totally satisfactory response will be one of the subjects of this subcommittee's inquiry."

Lundy said the subcommittee would investigate alternatives to long-term care facilities and the need for an ombudsman to speed up handling of complaints from residents and their families.

Accused of threats

Frank Hatch, 20, 310 E. Chamberlin, was arrested early today by Dixon police and charged with disorderly conduct.

Hatch was arrested for an incident which occurred at 304 W. Chamberlin and on a complaint signed by Mary Alicia Allen. Allen told authorities Hatch came to her house and threatened her husband and son. She also said Hatch had threatened her son before.

Hatch has posted bond and is scheduled to appear in court Sept. 25.

Vandalism in Rochelle probed

ROCHELLE — Rochelle police are investigating a vandalism report at Blakeslee-Midwest Prestress Company, 111 Fifth Ave.

The incident occurred sometime over the weekend when vandals broke the lock to the building and emptied the fire extinguishers. Styrofoam boards in the building were broken and a lock to the small office was broke. Also broke in the entry was a wall clock and articles from a first aid kit had been removed.

Police are investigating the vandalism report.

Worst of encephalitis outbreak appears over

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Although state officials believe the worst is over of an encephalitis outbreak which has stricken 175 Illinois residents, they say scattered cases can be expected in coming weeks.

Nine new cases of mosquito-carried St. Louis encephalitis were reported Monday, but none occurred in Cook County where most of the state's victims have been located, authorities said.

Dr. Mark Lepper, director of the state Public Health Department's task force on encephalitis, said in a statement, "We are encouraged by the indicators which show that the peak of the outbreak may be past and we are on the downhill side of the epidemic curve."

But he added, "This does not mean that we will not be seeing scattered cases throughout the state in the coming weeks. In classic outbreaks, such as this one, scattered cases may occur since the mosquitoes which have escaped destruction continue to feed generally until cooler weather."

Correction

Monday's issue of The Telegraph incorrectly stated that a Chicago youth was charged with damaging property at a teen center at Woodland Shores. The offense happened at Woodhaven Lakes. The Telegraph regrets the error.

BLOWING THEIR HEARTS out for the bubblegum-blowing championship of the N.Y. Mets are (from left) Randy Tate, Johnny Stearns and Tom Seavers. Pitchers may be known for their mighty bubbles while on the mound but Seavers and Stearns, both hurlers, "blew it" for the crown. But Stearns, a catcher, shows how it's done with this classic.

I am 80 years old and living with my daughter, and pay rent to her. I have applied for a tax relief grant from the state. Will the money go to me or to my "landlord" daughter?—G.R.

Dear Mr. R:

The tax relief grant will go to you, not your daughter. In order to receive a grant, you must be 65 years of age or older, or you must be disabled. Also, your gross household income must be less than $10,000 a year. The purpose of the law is to help seniors and handicapped persons remain in the living quarters of their choice—whether it be in their own homes, in apartments, or with relatives. Renters should be aware that they are eligible to apply for tax relief, even though part of the current program has traditionally been described as "property tax" relief. The cash grants provided by the state are intended to help reduce the burdens imposed by the costs of housing and to supply additional spendable income for persons living on fixed incomes.

Is there a Foster Grandparent program in Illinois? What requirements must be met in order to participate?—W.S.

Dear Mrs. S:

The Foster Grandparent program is funded by the federal government through the ACTION program. The purpose of Foster Grandparents is to provide older persons an opportunity to care for children, particularly handicapped or emotionally disturbed children, in an institutional or group setting. Low-income persons aged 60 and older are eligible to become Foster Grandparents if a program is established in their area. Normally, the Foster Grandparent works on a one-to-one basis with a child, four hours a day for five days a week. He or she receives meals, transportation, and a modest stipend.

In Illinois there are currently about 620 seniors taking part in Foster Grandparent programs in nine areas: Sterling, Lincoln, Kankakee, Godfrey-Centralia, Chicago, suburban Cook County, Joliet, Peoria, and E. St. Louis. Some of the programs are tied to state institutions—the Sterling program, for example, serves Dixon Developmental Center, and the Lincoln program serves Lincoln State School. The Joliet, Peoria, and E. St. Louis projects all involve local day care centers.

Related social services are often provided Foster Grandparents in conjunction with employment. The Kankakee program enrolled 25 seniors in a continuing education course at a local community college, established a fund for emergency loans, and assisted seniors in making application for various state and federal benefits.

You can find the program listed under "Foster Grandparents" or "U.S. Government—ACTION Agency" if you're in one of the nine current program locations. If you are not, and would like more information, you can contact the ACTION Agency, Foster Grandparent Program, 1 N. Wacker, Chicago, Ill. 60606.

There have been reports concerning overpayments to many recipients of Supplemental Security Income from the federal government. Does this mean the amount of monthly checks will be reduced?—T.Y.

Dear Mrs. Y:

The federal government is now struggling with the problem of recouping some of the overpayments to SSI recipients—aged, blind and disabled persons—without causing undue hardship. There are more than 130,000 Illinois residents receiving SSI, and virtually all of them have no sure way of knowing whether or not they've been overpaid. The government has decided not to try to recover any overpayment of $45 or less, if the overpayment is not the recipient's fault. No attempt to recover will be made if it would defeat the purpose of the program, which is to insure a minimum monthly income, or if it would be "against equity or good conscience," a matter open to interpretation.

If the government does attempt to recover an overpayment, you will be officially notified, and will have an opportunity to show why your regular SSI payment should not be reduced in order to make up for a past overpayment. The Senior Action Center volunteers will try to help anyone who faces particular problems in this respect.

Persons may call the toll-free Senior Action Hotline 800-252-6565 with questions or complaints about government agencies or programs or for information about tax relief, health care, food stamps, Social Security, employment, housing or legal aid.

In Dixon persons may call the Lee County Council for Aging 288-2117.

Check charges are filed

Mindy Eklund, 20, Chateau Estates, was arrested early today by Dixon police on a warrant charging her with deceptive practice.

Eklund is accused in the May 8 writing of a check for $30.48 to Mode-O-Day. Eklund allegedly had insufficient funds when writing the check. She was being held in jail pending a court appearance.

First week is history

By MIKE CUNNIFF

The first week of Illinois High School football 1975 is history. A lot of bumps, bruises, touchdowns and anxious moments were recorded. The NCIC came out a little tarnished as only five of the dozen teams recorded victories.

One of the wins was a certainty (barring a tie) as NCIC representatives Mendota and Streator tangled with the Trojans posting a 14-7 verdict. Rob Baughman scored both Mendota touchdowns on a six-yard run and a seven-yard pass reception.

Baughman finished with 90 yards on 19 carries to key a Trojan rushing attack which accounted for 120 yards. Quarterback Rudy Rodriguez completed six of 10 passes for 56 markers. Streator had 84 yards on the ground and 30 via the air. Jim Schmitz tallied on a one-yard run for the Bulldogs with Don Goerne converting the kick.

The other NCIC victors were Princeton, Geneseo, Rock Falls and Sterling. Princeton blanked Chillicothe 12-0 as Tim Conkling rolled up 203 yards rushing on 34 carries. Conkling tallied on one-yard and 11-yard runs for both of Princeton's touchdowns.

Geneseo also recorded a shutout as it white washed Pleasant Valley (Iowa) 35-0. The Maple Leafs rolled up 18 first downs, 16 by rushing and 303 total yards with 292 on the ground. Wayne Strader found the end zone three times and Paul DePauw twice for Geneseo. Strader scored on a pair of two-yard runs and once from the seven. DePauw grabbed a 10-yard pass and also tallied on a one-yard scamper.

Rock Falls slipped by Morton 6-0 as Jeff Murray turned left end for 22 yards and the only touchdown of the contest. Murray racked up 93 yards rushing on 20 carries. Sterling edged inter-city rival Newman 8-0 in the final contest between the two schools. Wes Williams scored the Golden Warriors' touchdown.

NCIC losers included Kewanee, LaSalle-Peru, Ottawa, Hall, Rochelle and Dixon besides the aforementioned Streator. Kewanee was swamped 28-0 by Galesburg. The Boilermakers were led by Marty Keim with 31 yards on 20 attempts. LaSalle-Peru was nipped by Rock Island 15-14 despite touchdowns by Dave Margis on a 29-yard pass from Scott Piecha and a one-yard run by Piecha. The Cavaliers rushed for 140 total yards plus 66 via passing.

Ottawa was hammered 36-0 by St. Bede. Ottawa collected 102 yards rushing and 79 passing. St. Bede had a net 276 yards on the ground and 109 via the air. Hall was also blanked, 34-0 by Metamora. Rochelle dropped a 14-7 decision to Wheaton Warrenville while Dixon's Ducks lost 20-6 to DeKalb.

In the Blackhawk, Walnut scored first but fell 28-6 to Toulon. In other conference action, Elmwood ended a safety to decision Kewanee Wethersfield 2-0 and ended a 21-game losing streak.

Elmwood had 72 yards rushing and 15 passing while Wethersfield had figures of 49 and 79, respectively. Snider led Elmwood with 41 rushing yards, while Lindsey picked up 36 for Wethersfield.

Princeville downed Western 36-21. Princeville had touchdowns from five different players and triumphed despite being outgained 318-242 in total yards. Kevin Anglin tallied three times for the losers on runs of 55, 65 and 14 yards.

Wyoming and Dunlap battled to a 6-6 deadlock. Wyoming had a 107-84 edge in the air and a 96-90 advantage on the ground. Wyoming scored on a seven-yard pass from Dean Kitterman to Duke Frisby while Dunlap retorted with a two-yard run by Mike Shady.

Manlius blanked Bradford 30-0 as Mike Wirth bolted over from two and eight yards. Rod Johnson scored from the three and Al Jensen from the five.

Turning now to the Little Eight, Ohio routed Seneca 38-6. Annawan crushed Atkinson 25-0. Tampico slipped by Leaf River 20-15. Ashton blanked Wyandot 14-0. Marseilles defeated DePue and Galva upended Tiskilwa 10-2 on Friday before LaMoille bombed Franklin Center 36-6 on Saturday.

Annawan got touchdowns from Dick Croegaert on a 53-yard pass, Kevin Hudders on a one-yard intercepted pass, Randy Childs on a 22-yard run and a John Hasbrook one-yard dive. Tampico got by Leaf River as Tim Christ hauled a pair of touchdown strikes to Jason Kermene (12 yards) and Mitch McNinch (21 yards). McNinch also racked up 98 yards rushing while Pat Dorothy tallied a touchdown and two conversion runs.

Leaf River crossed the goal line as Brad Miller went in from four and five yards out. Tampico gained 236 yards on the ground out of a 278 total. Leaf River had 155 yards rushing and 71 passing.

Marseilles got by DePue despite a Little Giants touchdown by quarterback Ray Galindo on a one-yard sneak plus a safety. Galindo completed six passes for a minus 20 yards net. DePue fumbled the ball five times.

Galva and Tiskilwa exchanged safeties but the winners got the decisive points as Mark Arter hit Rick Sundberg on a 31-yard pass. Tiskilwa gained 97 yards on the ground and passed for 32 more.

The Three Rivers had three conference contests with Morrison, Fulton and Prophetstown (16-12 over Amboy) notching victories. Newman and Savanna (20-6 loss to Mt. Carroll) were involved in non-conference action.

Morrison decided Erie 25-8 as Mike Stinson raced 38 yards and a dozen yards to pay dirt. Dave Burnham then hit Matt Farrell for 38 yards and six points while the final Mustangs' touchdown came as Burnham bolted 52 yards. Erie put points on the board as Pat Dillon scored from the one, Tom Possley tallied from the one and a 14-yard scamper by Dillon.

Fulton got by Riverdale 24-6 as sophomore running back Jim Snyder scored a pair of touchdowns. Snyder zoomed into the end zone from one and 53 yards and added a two-point conversion run. Larry Kettler added the final Steamers' touchdown on a two-yard plunge. Riverdale scored on a one-yard run by Bob Huvvy.

Meanwhile, in the Mid-Northern, Forreston, Mt. Morris and Winnebago chaled up wins in non-conference action while Byron tied Lena-Winslow. Polo, Pecatonica and Oregon were losers. Stillman Valley played South Beloit on Saturday.

Forreston beat Orangeville 22-6. Mt. Morris turned back Durand 14-0. Polo dropped a 14-6 decision to Stockton while Oregon was routed 38-14 by Rockton Hononegah. Byron's Mark Carter returned a fumble recovery 21 yards for the Tigers score.

Winnebago topped Freeport Aquin 18-0 on two touchdowns by Tim Swanson and one by Rocky DeGarmo. Swanson scored on three and two-yard runs while DeGarmo dashed 40 yards for his touchdown. Pecatonica was blanked by Dakota 20-0.

Finally, in the Upstate Illini, Ashton blanked Wyandot 14-0. Hanover duplicated the 14-0 effort over Warren and Milledgeville decided Savanna 20-6. The Pearl City-Galena score was not reported although rumor has it Pearl City won.

Durand lost 14-0 to Mt. Morris. Franklin Center was tripped up 36-6 by LaMoille. Leaf River lost 20-15 to Tampico. Orangeville dropped a 22-6 decision to Forreston. Rockford Lutheran lost to North Boone (no score) and Mt. Carroll was upset 12-8 by Lanark in other non-conference efforts.

Hanover got touchdowns by Tom Sullivan on an 11-yard run and John Cottral caught a 15-yard pass from Pat Sheridan for its winning points. Milledgeville got past Savanna as Bob Edlund tossed a 65-yard scoring bomb to Dan Wolf, a 72-yard burst by Jeff Adolph and a 12-yard pass to Wolf. Adolph ended with 179 yards, while Edlund chalked up 46 and Chuck Geary 38.

Outstanding Dukes

Steamroll the Royals 8-2

Of course, the A's won

FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

It looked like a World Series game. There was a big crowd at the Oakland Coliseum, the game meant something and, of course, the A's won.

"We proved again that this team plays a little better when the games mean a lot and when a lot of people turn out to watch us," said Sal Bando, the Oakland captain who contributed a home run and two singles to an explosive A's attack that steamrolled the Kansas City Royals 8-2 Monday night.

Elsewhere in the American League, the New York Yankees blanked the Detroit Tigers 3-0; the Cleveland Indians dropped the Boston Red Sox 4-1, and the Baltimore Orioles tripped the Milwaukee Brewers 6-2.

The script seems to be the same every year. The A's play as well as they have to in winning the American League West, then they play better than everybody else in sweeping to the world championship. Last year, Texas made a September run at the A's but fell five games short. This year it's the Royals, who might as well pack up their bats and balls. Oakland's Claudell Washington says their season is over.

Do the Royals, now six games back, have a chance? "No chance, no chance at all," Washington said. "If they won this game they would have had a chance. They had to sweep the series but they blew it."

Orioles 6, Brewers 2

The little losses in May are looking bigger and bigger in September for Baltimore.

"We lost 11 of 12 games in May when we weren't hitting," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver, "and we've never recovered from that, even though we've been playing .660 since the All-Star Game."

The Orioles latest success was keyed by Tommy Davis, who had three hits—including a two-run homer, and Mike Torrez, who pitched a six-hitter.

Indians 4, Red Sox 1
Don Hood, who hurled a seven-hitter, profited from three Boston errors leading to three unearned runs in the fourth inning and outdueled Rick Wise. John Lowenstein's homer accounted for the other Cleveland run.

Yankees 3, Tigers 0

Rudy May tossed a seven-hitter to pick up his career-high 13th victory. It was May's first shutout of the season and the second in the row for the Yankees. Catfish Hunter checked Baltimore 2-0 Sunday.

Graig Nettles blasted a solo home run in support of May, who struck out four, walked one and didn't allow a runner past second base.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

As a long, dreary season winds down, the Atlanta Braves find themselves going nowhere fast. The fans are going everywhere fast—except, of course, to Atlanta Stadium.

It took the fifth-place Braves only four days to top the all-time attendance low they set Thursday night, when 1,062 people crossed the turnstiles for a 2-1 victory over San Diego.

Monday night, with no threat of rain and temperatures in the mid-70s, 737 spectators crammed into 52,744 seats for a 9-6 loss to the Houston Astros—the only National League club with a worse record.

"It's the low ebb in a long season," offered Bob Hope, the Braves' Director of Public Relations. "This is the longest we've been out of contention in years. It's late in the season, and the fan appeal's a little dim right now."

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati topped San Diego 3-2, Los Angeles blanked San Francisco 4-0, Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 4-1, Philadelphia tripped St. Louis 6-3 and Montreal beat New York 6-5 and 6-1 in a two-night doubleheader.

Houston's Cesar Cedeno hit two home runs and had six RBI before the Braves' biggest non-crowd of the season, almost singlehandedly raising the Astros' record to 56-89 and bringing them within 41 games of first place.

Cedeno also rapped a two-run double in a three-run Houston first. His solo homer made it 4-0 in the third inning.

Evans' two-run homer in the seventh inning had given Atlanta a 5-4 lead.

Reds 3, Padres 2

Johnny Bench's 26th homer of the year, a two-run shot in the eighth-inning, lifted the NL West champions past San Diego. Willie McCovey's 18th homer of the year had given the Padres a 2-1 lead they held until the eighth.

Dodgers 4, Giants 0

Steve Yeager's two-run single highlighted a three-run Los Angeles eighth inning and backed Andy Messersmith's three-hit pitching in the Dodgers' triumph over San Francisco.

It was the sixth shutout of the season for Messersmith, 16-14, while John Montefusco, 13-8, took the loss.

Phillies 6, Cards 3

Greg Luzinski, who admits he hasn't been doing the job, did it Monday night. His single and double drove in three runs, raising his league-leading RBI total to 110 and carrying Philadelphia past St. Louis. He had driven in just four runs with his last 47 at-bats.

Expos 6-6, Mets 5-1

Right-hander Don Carriethers scattered eight hits as the Expos whipped New York after Pat Scanlon's one-out, bases-loaded single in the bottom of the ninth inning gave Montreal the opener.

Girls lose 12-0

The Dixon girls inerscholastic tennis team was blanked by Rock Island 12-0 on Monday at the Dixon courts. The loss dropped the team record to 1-1 with Dixon next hosting Sterling on Thursday.

In singles action, Bladel beat Betsy Flanagan 10-3, McLaughlin overcame Sue Hubbs 10-2, Radloff beat Lori Heeg 10-3, Foss blanked Sandy Hyde 10-0, Coin edged Barb Curnutte 10-4 and Schmitt decided Gaye Ortgiesen 10-5.

Flanagan and Hubbs lost 6-0 and 7-5 in doubles while Heeg and Hyde dropped a 6-0 and 6-2 decision. Curnutte and Sarah Utley were beaten 6-4 and 6-4 by Coin and Coin while Sue Capriola and Erin Flynn were decided 6-1 and 6-2 by Schmitt and Adams.

Klama and Vogel of Rock Island beat Sue Gorman and Karen Knack 6-2 and 6-0 while Birkel and Shallman got by Bonnie Uelege and Sandy Flynn 6-4 and 6-2.

Pirates nip Cubs

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Some people paid to see a Dock walloping. They wanted the Chicago Cubs to lay on the lash.

Despite an early stinging, pitcher Dock Ellis combined with reliever Ramon Hernandez to help the Pittsburgh Pirates widen their National League East lead to 6½ games with a 4-1 victory over the Cubs Monday night.

"A lot of fans came out tonight to see Dock lose," said Al Oliver, who had three hits in support of his close friend, Ellis.

"But most of the people were pulling for Dock, so there were good human beings out there too," Oliver added after the Pirates' fourth victory in a row.

It was Ellis' first start since rejoining the team after a two-week suspension, prompted by his refusal to pitch in relief and remarks he made about Manager Danny Murtaugh at a team meeting.

Some of the 6,756 paying customers cheered as Ellis took the mound.

Other spectators jeered. They see Ellis as a loudmouth troublemaker, undeserving of reinstatement to the team.

"Ellis, you stink," a half dozen young men chanted.

The anti-Ellis faction cheered in the first inning when Dave Rosello and Joe Wallis opened with a pair of well-hit doubles to give the Cubs a 1-0 lead.

Bill Madlock, the National League batting leader, was due at the plate against Ellis, who'd lasted less than an inning in two starts prior to his suspension.

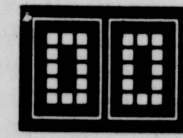

Yet the only early shower Ellis got came when the dark skies opened and the game was delayed 48 minutes by a thunderstorm.

When play resumed, Ellis took command with the help of a strikeout by Madlock, and the Pirates pulled to a 1-1 tie in their half of the first against Cub rookie Willie Prall, making his second start.

The Pirates broke the game open with a three-run assault in the sixth. Oliver opened with a triple, and the Pirates rapped four more hits in a row, including a double by Dave Park-er.

That gave Ellis a 4-1 lead, and he had allowed five hits into the seventh when he was relieved by Hernandez after yielding a pair of leadoff walks. Some fans ran to the top of the dugout to boo and turn thumbs down on Ellis, who had showered and departed the ballpark by the time reporters got to the locker room.

Oliver used the phrase "most of the players" in his declaration of support. Couldn't he say the entire Pirate team was pulling for the 31-year-old right-hander?

NFL squad size to expand?

WASHINGTON (AP) — With major injuries striking at least half of the National Football League, the Players Association has asked the owners to reconsider an earlier decision and expand squad sizes from the present 43 to last year's 47.

Kermit Alexander, president of the player's union, said a return to the 1974 team limit, even if some of the players were on a taxi, or reserve, squad, "will allow fans to see a more interesting game and will lessen the pressure on team doctors, trainers and players themselves performing with an injury."

The 26 NFL owners voted during their June meeting in New York to reduce squad sizes to 43 players, with no taxi squad, as a matter of economy because, they said, more than half the teams lost money last year.

Monday, a NFL spokesman said the player limit was one of the things which the league wanted to negotiate with the players union.

"Our role as the Management Council in the player limit is that we have a mandate from the clubs to bargain it with the players union," said Terry Bledsoe. "But (NFLPA Executive Director Ed) Garvey stopped that...he stopped the whole process."

Bledsoe referred to Garvey's letter to the Management Council, which, in effect, states the NFLPA's directors may not accept an agreement even if the players vote to ratify it.

The players union opposed the decrease in team size because it would mean a loss of some 182 jobs because, the association said, teams averaged about 53 players per squad in 1974, including those who were injured.

Under the rules this year, only three players may be placed on the injured reserve list with the rest being put on non-recallable waivers at the end of the season and could be lost to a team.

Alexander said at the time that "the owners' decision places tremendous pressure on coaches and team doctors to keep an injured player on the active list in order to protect him for the future."

The union president pointed to what he described as an unusually high number of serious injuries to first team and front line veterans during the exhibition season in urging the owners to expand the squad limits.

As examples of the players who were injured and will be out for the season or for a number of weeks into the regular season, Alexander cited quarterbacks Jim Plunkett of New England, Al Woodall of the New York Jets, Archie Manning of New Orleans, Bob Barry of Minnesota and Bill Munson of Detroit.

In that 1968 Gator Bowl disaster, Missouri stifled Alabama with minus 45 yards on the ground and there were some other similarities Monday night—like occasional seven and eight-man defensive fronts and a succession of weak-side blitzes.

The statistics showed Missouri outtrashed Alabama 206 yards to 31 and outgained the Tide over-all 257-118. But it wasn't even that close as the Tigers scored a touchdown and field goal in each of the first two periods for a 20-0 halftime bulge and settled down to a more conservative brand of offensive football thereafter while the traditionally rugged defense made Alabama's faces redder than their crimson uniforms.

"I think we were pretty fortunate not to be beaten worse," said Bryant, whose scoffed-at prediction that Missouri "might manhandle us again" came all too true. "They beat us worse than the score indicates. They ate us on the line of scrimmage, which is where it all starts. Particularly their defense against our offense. And I don't recall anybody keeping the ball that much against us in 10 years. They must have set some kind of record for offensive plays."

"I had no idea they would shut us off the way they did. We've got to establish a running game to move the ball, but we couldn't."

The stunning triumph was another in Missouri's amazing string of upsets over the past four years.

Even though Missouri was a three-touchdown underdog, it was no fluke, this trouncing which Bryant called "a good ol' sound country beating." Alabama's famed Wishbone, which averaged 299 rushing yards a game last year, managed only 31 measly yards in 34 attempts, although a

Prophetstown grabs three wins at Woodhaven course

By MIKE CUNIFF
Telegraph Sports Editor
OREGON — The Prophetstown Prophets, keyed by the 1-2 finish of Randy Sharer and Tom Shipp, swept a trio of cross-country meets at the three-mile Woodhaven course, here, Monday afternoon.

Prophetstown upended the host team Oregon Hawks 24-32, got by the Polo Marcos 16-39 and beat Ashton Aces 19-36. Oregon was 2-1 for the day with the loss of Prophetstown coupled with a 16-43 decision over Polo and a 15-42 verdict against Ashton. The Aces took the final decision with a 26-31 triumph versus Polo.

Sharer posted a winning time of 17:38 while Shipp entered the chute in 17:57. Oregon's Dave Buhs, who was clocked in 18:30 at Woodhaven last Thursday, lowered his time to 18:01 on Monday for third place.

Larry Karn of the Prophets grabbed fourth in 18:06, 15 seconds ahead of Luke Schier of the Hawks. Prophetstown's Tim Seifert was sixth in 18:30, with Oregon teammates Larry Kereven (18:44) and Bob Barnett (18:50) ending seventh and eighth, respectively.

Ed Stauffer was the top Polo finishing ninth in 18:51 while Oregon's Marv Hollaway rounded out the top 10 in 18:53. Ashton's Tom Krause grabbed 11th in 19:11 followed by Aces teammates Ed Baylor (19:17) and John Martinez (19:24) plus Oregon's John Mershon and Ashton's Mike Cladwell.

Don Shipp of Prophetstown was 16th, Kurt Keefer of Polo 17th followed by Jim Woolford, Jeff Hadaway, Doug Fitzsimmons, Jay Oates and Don Penn of the Marcos. Ashton's Dean Dvorak took 23rd, Dave White of Polo was 24th with the field being rounded out by Ashton's Gary Kofoid, Chris Somers and Mick Townsend.

In sophomore action, Oregon slipped by Prophetstown 23-25. Polo and Ashton did not field teams. Kurt Francis of Prophetstown was the individual winner with a 12:01 clocking for the two miles. Oregon grabbed second and third as Steve Reid finished in 12:08 and Dave Bocker in 12:12.

John Cade of Prophetstown took fourth, one second behind Bocker while Oregon then swept fifth through eighth as Jeff Bredeon, Jim Corcoran, Mike Hawn and Kurt Friel finished in that order. Prophetstown's Mike Fisk, Brian McNeil and Loren Bohms rounded out the finishers.

Oregon is now off until Saturday when the Hawks will compete in the Ottawa Invitational. Ashton and Polo both go to the Forrester Invitational on Thursday.

Area roundup

SAUK VALLEY — Wau-bensee grabbed the first three places to win a triangular junior college cross-country meet, here, Monday. Wau-bensee finished with 24 points to 47 for Sauk Valley and 70 for Freeport.

Sauk Valley was paced by the fourth place effort of Joe Schuetz with Steve Hook taking sixth. Mickey Trader was 11th, Dennis O'Neil 12th, Tim Huyett 14th, Tim Davis 15th and Jeff Robbe 16th.

The meet was the first action of the '75 season for the Redmen. Sauk Valley will hot go to Blackhawk East of Kewanee on Thursday. The Redmen will also go to Wau-bensee on Sept. 17 and Highland on Sept. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas fired a 61 to take the couples four-ball eightsome on Sunday at the Dixon Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fritz second with a 69 followed by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Krahenbuhl with a 71.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Holmes took fourth with a 73 followed by Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Baker (73), Mr. and Mrs. Stan Dunphy (74), Dr. and Mrs. Ken Slack (76) and Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson (76).

Sports shorts

When righthander Lynn McGlothen of the St. Louis Cardinals struck out three Reds (Cesar Geronimo, Darrell Chaney and Gary Nolan) on nine pitches in the second inning of St. Louis' 2-1 victory August 19, he tied a major league record shared by a dozen other pitchers. The last National Leaguer to accomplish the feat was the Cardinals' Bob Gibson.

The struggling Atlanta Braves attracted only 8,907 for a helmet day game against the Cardinals recently. After 58 dates, the Atlanta Stadium attendance totaled 480,255; down 357,977 from last season.

Rocky Colavito broke into the major leagues with the Cleveland Indians and wrapped up his stay with the New York Yankees. Colavito played 162 games in the outfield in 1965 without an error.
